VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, JUNE 12, 1942—18 PAGES

PRICE FIVE CENTS

TORPEDOED AT ENTRANCE OF STRAITS, 60 MILES FROM VICTORIA—Twenty-eight of the 63 survivors of the torpedoed of an American merchant ship off the coast of the Pacific-northwest smile their relief after arriving at Port Angeles, across the straits from Victoria. The men were sighted in their lifeboats by a patrol plane of the R.C.A.F. and were rescued by a Canadian Navy corvette.

Final Bulletins

4 Jap Carriers Sunk at Midway

HONOLULU (AP)—Four Japanese aircraft carriers were destroyed in the battle of Midway Island, it was indicated here today on the basis of battle reports thus far received by United States Navy sources.

The four carriers had a complement of 1,500 each. At least three transports were reported torpedoed and they carried some 6,000 troops. Loss of life on these troop ships must have been heavy.

No Budget Date

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Hiley told the Commons this afternoon he was unable to say when the budget would be brought down. He was answering Conservative House Leader Hanson, who asked about a press report that it would be June 18 or 25. "That is an unauthorized statement," said Mr. Hiley.

Polio in Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—A three-year-old Vancouver boy is under treatment at the infectious diseases hospital for infantile paralysis, the first case of the disease reported in the Vancouver area this year.

Tanks Locked in Battle

Fight to Block Nazis From Tobruk

CAIRO (AP)—British tanks are locked in a bitter battle with German armored forces about 30 miles southeast of Tobruk in an effort to block the drive of three strong columns which turned northeastward toward that objective after forcing the Free French out of Bir Hacheim, southern anchor of the British line.

Harmat, six miles south of the desert track crossing of Knightsbridge, around which has centred much of the battling in this German offensive was the general scene of the engagement. Knightsbridge is 25 miles southeast of Tobruk and about 15 miles west of El Adem.

Harmat was seized by the British forces in a thrust from their coastal positions late last week.

Now that this had been accomplished, it was assumed he was able to throw his main effort into a resumption of the drive on Tobruk with his supply lines no longer menaced by air-

Czech Toll 358

LONDON (CP)—The German-controlled Prague radio announced tonight that 23 more Czechs had been executed, bringing the reprisal total to 358 since the fatal wounding of Reinhard Heydrich by Czech patriots. This total did not count the persons killed when all males in the town of Lidice, estimated at 350, were shot.

U.S. Planes Land in Neutral Turkey

LONDON (CP)—The radio in neutral Turkey announced tonight that three American airplanes had made forced landings on an airfield at Ankara, the capital, this morning and that the crews had been put "under observation." The announcer gave no inkling of the fliers' destination or base.

This seemed to be another version of an earlier report broadcast by the German radio stating that British pilots, air mechanics and engineers had arrived at Ankara. Authoritative quarters in London refused to comment.

F.D.R. to Give Radio Talk

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Roosevelt will make a 10-minute radio talk Sunday in observance of United Nations Day. It was announced here today. He will speak from 2:50 to 3 p.m. P.D.T.

Sebastopol Reds Stage Attacks; Beat Nazis Back

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW (AP)—After beating off a week of virtually constant German onslaughts, defenders at the Crimean naval base of Sebastopol have counter-attacked and improved some of their positions, Russian army dispatches said today.

There were no further details from the Ukraine where, a communiqué at midnight said, Russian forces were putting up a violent defensive fight against the advance of Field-Marshal General Fedor von Bock's tanks and infantry east of Kharkov.

Red Star said that despite local gains won by the Russian counter-attacks, the situation at Sebastopol remained "extremely tense."

GERMAN CLAIMS

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts, AP)—The German high command said today that German forces east of Kharkov, in the Ukraine, have carried out successful attacks which are increasing in volume.

On the Sebastopol front, the high command communiqué said, attacks around numerous defence works of the Russians "gained ground in stubborn fighting. Repeated enemy counter-attacks collapsed with heavy losses."

The Berlin radio, broadcasting a report of DNB, Nazi news and propaganda agency, said attacks at Sebastopol and southeast of Kharkov were necessary preliminaries to Hitler's "coming great offensive." Immediate objectives were described as the reduction of Sebastopol, which DNB termed "the strongest fortress in the world," and straightening of German lines below Kharkov.

Fit. Lt. E. M. Williams, son of School Trustee E. A. M. Williams of Oak Bay and Mrs. Williams, 311 Foul Bay Road, received the Air Force Cross in the King's birthday honors. Williams, who was educated here, was described in the citation as the outstanding pilot in his east coast squadron. He has made 187 sorties over the North Atlantic.

Signs Point to Invasion of Europe

Hopes Grow Decisive Blow Coming in 1942

By DREW MIDDLETON

LONDON (AP)—With Britain, Russia and the United States united as never before, Allied hopes of striking a decisive blow in the war this year appeared today to be predicated on a bold invasion of western Europe.

That Allied strategy calls for such a move was clearly indicated Thursday that Washington, London and Moscow are agreed on the urgency of opening a second front to crush Hitler's armies between two forces.

The announcement came amid indications Hitler was massing his legions for an all-out effort to smash Russia with all possible speed.

Observers believed, however, that Russia's ability to withstand the shock would be strengthened by sure knowledge that powerful help was on the way and that Hitler's operations would be impeded by the necessity of meeting the looming threat in the west.

U.S. Warships, Planes Join British

Already three military factors were reported to have forced the Germans to frenzied efforts to secure western Europe against invasion:

1. The growing efficiency of the British army, plus steady reinforcement of American forces in Northern Ireland.

2. Arrival of a powerful American battle squadron in British waters to bolster the Royal Navy's Home Fleet.

3. The imminent addition of American bomber squadrons to the R.A.F., which already is master of the skies over the Channel and which has demonstrated its ability to hurl more than 1,000 planes in one raid against German industrial centres.

"Germans' worries have been augmented further by British commando raids which have shown their coastal defences along the English Channel far from invulnerable.

Consequently they have been hastening construction of new defences along the shores of the Low Countries and northern France under the direction of Albert Speer, minister for economic armaments and munitions.

Nazis Build Railways, Pillboxes on Farms

A network of new railroads is being built in supporting areas, and farmhouses are being transformed into pillboxes as units in a defence system apparently depending more on heavily fortified static positions than on mobile tank columns, most of which have been withdrawn to the Russian front.

British military experts, however, say that such a defence system never could stand up under the concentrated pounding from the air to which it would be subjected prior to any landing attempt.

Official references in London and Washington to the understanding on the opening of a second front was warmly acclaimed by the British press, sections of which long have been clamoring for action.

Typical was the comment of the London Daily Express, which said that at last Britain was going to play her part in the destruction of Germany's military might and added:

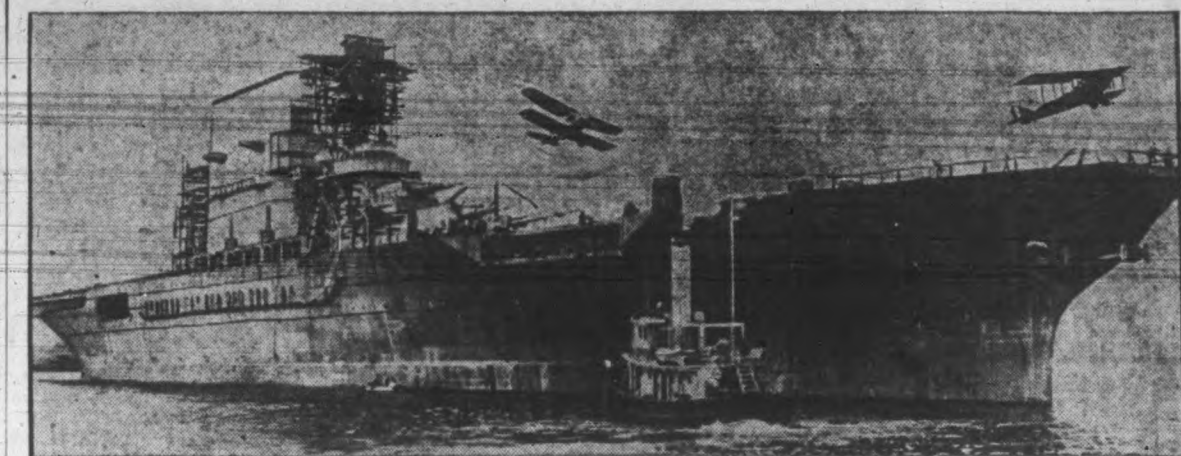

"This is Hitler's worst day."

Alaska Planning Civilian Defence

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Alaska war council, which is to be primarily a civilian defence agency for the territory, was created today by a presidential executive order. Its chairman will be Governor Gruening.

The Council was directed to maintain close liaison with military authorities so the conduct of federal civil activities will be in "closest possible conformity with military requirements," and to make recommendations on "the safety and security of the civilian population of Alaska."

Final Score in Battle of Coral Sea 15 to 3 for Allies; Lexington Lost

U.S.S. Lexington . . . sinks despite crew's heroic five-hour battle with flames.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The smashing naval victory in the Battle of the Coral Sea cost the United States the 33,000-ton aircraft carrier Lexington, the Navy Department disclosed today, in a summation which told of far vaster damage to a Japanese armada menacing Australia.

The Lexington sank, with relatively slight loss of life, in a postbattle explosion which spread fires the crew was unable to put out after it had tried heroically for more than five hours to save the ship.

Assuming that the normal complement of 2,300 men was aboard during the action, somewhat fewer than 200 of them were lost on the basis of navy officials' estimates that 92 per cent of the Lexington's crew was rescued.

From March 10 through May 8, the entire campaign cost the Japanese more than 15 ships sunk, two probably sunk and 20 damaged. The United States lost, besides the Lexington, only the tanker Neosho and the destroyer Sims, and a large part of their personnel was saved.

The Shokaku, also spelled Syokaku, was a 14,000-ton carrier, these sources said, and normally carried about 45 airplanes.

Explosion Came When Ship Steaming

"These attacks were the last action in the battle of the Coral Sea," the navy said, and gave this description of the fight which the officers and crew of the great carrier put up in their attempts to prevent her destruction:

"The crew of the Lexington succeeded in putting out the fires and recovering her aircraft. Several hours after the battle, while steaming at 20 knots, a terrific internal explosion rocked the Lexington, causing serious fires to break out in many parts of the ship."

Gas Line Leaks Caused Blast

"It was first thought that the explosion was the result of a 'sleeper' bomb. Investigation revealed, however, that the probable cause was the ignition of gasoline vapors which resulted from leaks in ruptured gasoline lines in closed compartments below decks."

"The crew fought heroically for more than five hours to save the ship, but were at great disadvantage because the explosion had damaged much of the fire-fighting equipment."

"Destroyers were sent alongside to assist with their pumps, fire hose and chemical fire-fighting equipment. The wounded were transferred from the burning carrier to the destroyers alongside."

Ryukaku Sunk, Shokaku Damaged

The navy said the enemy losses included "the new Japanese aircraft carrier Ryukaku, and that 'serious damage' was inflicted on the Shokaku, another carrier. Naval sources here expressed belief that the Ryukaku was a brand new Japanese carrier, so new that it was not yet listed in the standard naval reference books available in this country. They said it was apparently about a 20,000-ton vessel."

Loss of Chuhsien was recorded in a high command communiqué which said the Chinese had completed withdrawal Wednesday after a nine-day battle in which 18,000 casualties were inflicted on the enemy.

Somewhat offsetting this was announcement of the recapture by the Chinese of two on the Chekiang railway about half way between Chuhsien and the Hangchow terminus, 160 miles north-east.

The news of the A.V.G.'s victory caused jubilation in Chungking, where it was taken as a foretaste of what is in store for the invaders when the A.V.G. is reinforced with new men and machines—as is confidently expected.

May 8, the Lexington was made the main objective of Japanese aircraft which attacked while her own planes were absent.

although the fact that carrier-based planes participated had not been given out, resulted in the sinking or damaging of more than 20 Japanese ships plus heavy damage to shore installations.

The second phase of the campaign was the Battle of the Coral Sea, which started May 4 after reconnaissance had shown concentration of enemy shipping and aircraft in preparation for an advance into the Solomon and Louisiade islands.

The task force which first participated in this fight was commanded by Rear-Admiral Frank J. Fletcher, which attacked a part of the enemy armada anchored in and near the harbor of Tulagi, in the Solomon group, and all but annihilated it. The results of this engagement, previously announced by the navy, were sinking or damaging of 12 Jap vessels and destruction of six aircraft with a loss of but three American craft.

Next day American forces shot down a four-engined flying boat.

Main Jap Force Hit by Planes

May 7 the navy communiqué related, Fletcher's aircraft hit the main body of the Japanese force in the Louisiade Archipelago off Mesima. A new Japanese aircraft carrier, the Ryukaku, and a heavy cruiser were sunk, an enemy counter-attack was fought off successfully. The enemy lost 25 aircraft compared with six for the U.S. forces, which consisted of both naval and army planes from Australia.

May 7, however, Jap planes located and bombed the tanker Neosho and its escorting destroyer, the Sims.

The Lexington was laid down Aug. 1, 1921 and completed in December, 1927, by the Fore River Shipbuilding Company at Quincy, Mass.

Its displacement of 33,000 tons went up to 40,000 tons under full load, and Jane's fighting ships listed its complement, including flying personnel, at 2,122, including 169 officers.

The Neosho, commissioned in 1937, was a 25,000-ton vessel. The Sims, 1,570-ton destroyer, was commissioned in August, 1939, and was the first new destroyer announced to have been lost in fighting in the southwestern Pacific.

Flying General Lost at Midway

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. War Department reported today that Maj. Gen. Clarence L. Tinker, commander of the Hawaiian air force, was missing after the Battle of Midway.

He left Midway June 7 leading a flight of his army bombers to attack the Japanese fleet.

His plane when last seen by men aboard other aircraft in the same formation was descending rapidly towards the sea, the War Department said.

The area where his plane was last observed was thoroughly searched from the air and by surface craft for several days, but no trace has been found of the missing bomber.

Gen. Tinker had been commander of the army air forces in Hawaii since shortly after Pearl Harbor, when he relieved Maj. Gen. Frederick L. Martin.

Don't be the missing man.

Pacts to Hasten Defeat of Axis

MOSCOW (AP)—The Anglo-Russian mutual assistance treaty is "bound to expedite" the defeat of Germany, the Communist Party newspaper Pravda declared today, striking the keynote of Russian reaction to Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov's recent accomplishments at London and Washington.

"This is most vividly testified by the fact that the negotiations in London and Washington resulted in complete agreement as regards the urgent tasks of creation of a second front in Europe in 1942," the editorial said.

This was a reference to the military talks in the two capitals which, in Britain's case, supplemented formal, mutual pledges of a fight to the finish against an aggressor Germany and "any other state associated with her in acts of aggression in Europe" and friendly co-operation in the post-war reconstruction of Europe.

The Russian press generally found in Russia's treaty with Britain and the informal understanding with the United States on a second front in 1942 new hope of victory this year over Germany.

"This sharp arm will help accelerate victory and bring defeat of the German occupiers in 1942 to accomplishment," said the leading editorial in Izvestia, the government newspaper.

Every Moscow newspaper devoted its entire front page to the communiqué on Molotov's visits to London and Washington and the text of the treaty, along with pertinent editorials. The radio broadcast the news over and over and it was avidly discussed by people on the streets and in offices, stores and factories.

Get Army Spirit Civilians Told

SEIGNIORY CLUB (CP)—Canadian civilians must be motivated by the same devotion to the cause that is the spirit of a military force, Elliott M. Little, national director of selective service, told the Canadian Electrical Association here today.

"It is time for every last person in Canada to join Canada's war production team," Mr. Little said. "It is time for us all to recognize that we are joined in the one effort and that we are interdependent."

Better understanding between management and labor must be attained quickly, Mr. Little said, because "the war won't wait for us to jockey around and look for a compromise."

Despite a general response to appeals for labor-management co-operation there still remained "some so-called agitators" who would use the war as a stepping-stone for personal gain, just as there were some employers who used peacetime tactics of indulging petty prejudices.

"There are bigger jobs for these people right now than spouting from their soap boxes. They've got to stop impeding Canada's war effort. They've got to make that effort their No. 1 job. And employers who think labor has nothing to offer but sweat must change their ideas."

The compulsory labor-management co-operation plan in the United States was proving highly effective in overcoming absenteeism, "one of the worst curses of Canada's war production," jumping production, reducing waste and cutting rejections, Canada, he said, could accomplish equal results.

'MUST WIN PEACE' SAYS C.C.F. LEADER

VANCOUVER (CP)—Harold E. Winch, leader of the C.C.F. opposition in the B.C. Legislature, told the Retail Credit Granters' Association in an address Thursday "it is up to us as individuals, regardless of creed or religion, to do the job of winning the peace after winning the war."

A member of the B.C. Post-war Rehabilitation Council, Mr. Winch said the council faced three main jobs:

1. To approximate the scope of employment required with a view to fitting individuals into jobs they are best fitted for.
2. Make a survey of B.C.'s almost unlimited natural resources and present industries and plan for their conversion and development to peace-time requirements.
3. To scientifically think and plan for projects to absorb man and woman-power and inaugurate them without loss of time at the end of the war.

"Our people are in no spirit to return to conditions as they existed during the depression years of 1929-39, or the post-war years of 1919," Mr. Winch added.

When Will Second Front Open?

Allies' Next Moves Stir Wide Speculation

Canadian Press.

Allied capitals rang with speculation today on the prospects of three vast and perhaps imminent developments aimed at the final downfall of Germany and Japan, and the shaping of a new world at peace.

While Berlin sounded a new threat of Hitler's "coming great offensive," the United Nations envisaged:

1. Creation of a second front in Europe in 1942.
2. A possible Russian attack on Japan.
3. The opening of Soviet air bases to Allied bombers for attacks on Japan.

In Washington, congressional quarters expressed belief that the "full understanding" reached between President Roosevelt and Russia's Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov might open bases at Vladivostok to United States bomber squadrons.

Others voiced the conviction nothing in the mutual aid agreement between the United States and Russia would precipitate the Russians into war with Japan while they were so heavily engaged with Hitler in the west.

AGAINST GERMANY

It was noted, too, the Russian-British agreement emphasized it was directed against "Germany or any of the states associated with her in acts of aggression in Europe."

The treaty stressed the words "in Europe" seven times, clearly indicating Russia wanted to be free to maintain the status quo of an uneasy neutrality toward Japan.

Sorely-pressed China watched anxiously, with the Chinese press bluntly calling on Russia to strike at Japan now.

With the Allies united as never before—first by a new 20-year mutual assistance pact between Britain and Russia, second by a new Washington-Moscow accord wiping the dollar sign off United States aid to Russia—the question of opening a second front in Europe this year brought various reactions.

NO IMMEDIATE ATTEMPT

In Washington, few Congress members believed the White

House announcement of agreement on the "urgent task" of creating a new front portended any immediate attempt to land Allied troops in Europe.

London, Washington and Moscow were all agreed on the "urgency" of the matter, but officials shied at a direct interpretation of the rather ambiguously worded statement.

Sections of the British press which long have been clamoring for direct action against Germany hailed the accord with high enthusiasm.

NAZI PROPAGANDA

NEW YORK (AP)—The German radio, barely mentioning the new Anglo-Russian mutual assistance pact itself, went to length to argue that informed quarters in Berlin had known for several days about Vyacheslav Molotov's visit to the United States and Britain.

Radio Berlin professed to find in Molotov's visits "proof that the situation of the Soviet Union is most critical" since Josef Stalin had sent his "best man to the capitals of the democratic powers in order to describe to the latter the desperate situation of the Soviet Union in the most impressive manner."

P.O. Walsh Scores

Victorian Aids 'Demons' Blast Two Axis Vessels

LONDON (CP)—The Air Ministry News Service reported today two Hudsons of the Canadian coastal command squadron bombed and hit two Axis vessels off the Netherlands coast Thursday night.

One Hudson of the "Demon Squadron" scored at least three direct hits on the largest of four ships in the convoy. Another, on its first operational sortie, scored a direct hit on a small vessel.

The crew on its first operational flight was made up of P.O. G. C. Walsh, Victoria; P.O. K. S. Goodman, Edmonton; Sgt.

C. H. Cowan, Toronto, and Sgt. W. Wright, Kenton, Man.

The plane that scored the three hits made such a low attack that its trailing aerial was torn off by the masts of the attacked ship.

"There was a deep orange glow, followed by an explosion," said Sgt. J. D. Banting of Richlea, Sask., and P.O. C. W. Taylor of Winnipeg.

On the way back to base the crew saw a brilliant flash on the horizon, leading to the belief the ship blew up.

Continued bad weather prevented the R.A.F. bomber command from the third consecutive night from attacking Germany.

Japs to People B.C. Ghost Town

VANCOUVER (CP)—An entire Japanese community will be moved as a unit tomorrow by the B.C. Security Commission and transported into the Slocan district to bring new life to one of British Columbia's "ghost" towns.

Commission officials in charge of Japanese evacuation from the coast said the 45 Japanese men, women and children, who until present have made a living cutting shingle bolts at Sulclide Creek in the Fraser Valley, will be moved to Sandon, B.C., 35 miles north of Nelson.

Their equipment—everything from saws to family prams—will be bundled into a train tomorrow morning.

They will probably resume their cordwood-cutting activity at Sandon.

SCHOOLS PREPARED

The commission also disclosed a survey of large Indian residential schools at Edmonton and Youville districts in Alberta is being carried out by Inspector F. J. Mead of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and Dr. Lyall Hodgins. It is expected that about 7,500 Japanese will be accommodated in Indian residential schools in British Columbia, Alberta and Manitoba.

The commission announced the clearing of Steveston, one-time predominantly Japanese fishing settlement on the Fraser River south of here, of all Japanese Thursday.

Movements of Japanese to Alberta sugar-beet fields are continuing daily, and a number are going out to British Columbia road camps and to Schreiber, Ont. Some volunteers are moving from B.C. camps to Schreiber, en route to the sugar-beet fields in southwestern Ontario, and others are taking private employment in the east.

FARMERS REQUEST GOVERNMENT LEAD

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP)—The principle that there should be the closest co-operation with the federal government in furthering the nation's war effort, has dominated and guided the Western Growers' Association in its work during the past year, George L. Stringham of Lethbridge and Milk River said in his presidential address today at the annual convention.

"The association has accepted the position that it should speak for the beef and cattle industry and should work with the federal government to make for a contribution by way of increased beef production to the nation's war effort," he said.

On several occasions the association "pointed out the advisability of greater beef production and called upon the government to give the lead to producers by stating whether increased numbers of heavier weights of beef cattle should be produced in the future."

British Women As Lumberjacks

Written for The Canadian Press
By MARION SLATER

LONDON (CP)—Lumber jills, members of the newly-formed British Women's Timber Corps, now stand beside husky lumberjacks as part of Britain's war effort. The timber corps, an offshoot of the Women's Land Army, fells trees and saws and measures timber for ship building, aircraft construction, pit props and other work. They do the same tasks as their male counterparts, freeing the men for active service.

I saw these girls at work at the first training camp in England. Most of them had passed their lives in indoor jobs, but they seemed to revel in their new open air life and in the opportunity to do vital work in beautiful and healthful surroundings.

In forest clearings, women were felling and stripping trees. Their emerald green sweaters and colorful kerchiefs stood out brilliantly against the dark spruce, pine and fir.

At the sawmill girls were trimming and sawing the big logs. On the wall hung a warning, "Trust in Allah, but tether your camels. Use a cant hook."

All the women, foresters are proud of doing a man's job and a war job. It tires them at first, but morning physical training soon lingers up the muscles stiffened the previous day. Scrap Rubber Campaigns Speeded in U.S., Britain

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt announced today an intensive campaign for collection of the United States' old scrap rubber supply would start June 15 and last through June 30.

Individuals were urged by the President to search their basements, attics and back yards for all items of rubber that have been discarded or can be discarded, for wholesale manufacture, and has not the steel to construct the necessary facilities.

Experiments Made In Britain

LONDON (AP)—Britain, her long control over the world's rubber supplies ended at least temporarily by Japan, struggled today with all the problems that face North America and some added complications.

Synthetic substitutes for rubber and reclamation of rubber from automobile tires, as in the United States, have been the best bets so far, but both answers present difficulties—beyond those America has found.

For Britain's synthetic industry is largely experimental. She lacks the huge quantities of petroleum and alcohol necessary

Strawberry Corps Busy On Saanich Farms

The army of pickers is now on its way along the long rows of strawberries on Saanich fruit farms.

From morn to afternoon, inching along on hand and knees, the army goes, devastating plants of their berries, but always guarding the booty of its toil—the neatly packed box of big, lusciously sweet, mellow red strawberries.

It's no military secret that the arm of pickers is under strength. In official circles there is much concern over whether the army will be victorious over nature, the overwhelming force from which new opposition springs every day.

With what appears to be settled warm weather, the crisis of the strawberry army campaign is expected to come within a few days. If the battalions of pickers can capture strawberries as quickly as they spring to readiness during the next 10 days, the battle will be practically over. Only general "mopping up" will be needed to achieve permanent victory.

EVERYBODY PICKS

The army of pickers has been recruited from persons in all walks of life—from schools, from homes, clubs, business houses, stores, even from Indian reserves. These recruits are determined to overcome the worst farm labor problem in decades.

To help meet the anticipated shortage, the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, Tourist Trade Group and the Saanich Board of Trade strawberry growers got together on a plan to register all the persons willing to pick strawberries before the demand for pickers reached its height.

The body of pickers, called the Wartime Harvesting Corps, is made up of young and old persons, a large percentage of them being schoolchildren.

Norman Foster of the Chamber of Commerce has served as commanding officer of the harvesting corps. It has been his duty to work out the strategy for the picking campaign, to get the pickers on the farms as they are needed. With the season under way now, there is still a shortage of pickers.

Strawberry picking, he points out, offers schoolchildren an opportunity to earn spending money during their summer vacations. The army of pickers is being paid more this year than ever before.

Pickers get 35 cents a crate for the berries. Experienced pickers make from $3 to $5 a day. Since most of the pickers this year are inexperienced, the average earnings will be less this season.

6-WEEK CAMPAIGN

The picking of strawberries usually runs from six to eight weeks, varying with the locality.

Although getting off to a slow start this season, which is better than average, may reach climax and finish quickly.

On the heels of the strawberry season come the raspberry and loganberry seasons. Some pickers follow the fruit crops right through.

Fruitgrowers this year are doing all they can to get pickers. Although most pickers desire to return to the city each evening, most growers offer accommodation for the pickers if they care to stay on the farms.

Mr. Foster has been trying to arrange special transportation for pickers to and from the city to the farms.

Those persons wanting to join the fruit harvesting army should get in touch with Mr. Foster at the Chamber of Commerce, Arcade Building.

Lloyd George Approves Treaty With Russia

LONDON (CP)—David Lloyd George, first Great War Prime Minister, had the last word Thursday at the sitting of the House of Commons at which Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden announced the signing of the Anglo-Russian treaty.

While the House cheered Mr. Eden's statement, the former Prime Minister stood up and declared to a suddenly-attentive House:

"As one who labored over 20 years to establish good understanding between Soviet Russia and this country, I felicitate the Prime Minister, the Foreign Secretary and the government upon the accomplishment of this treaty."

"Had it been a fact some years ago many grave blunders would have been avoided, and not only that but this war never would have occurred."

The House gave him a cheer and adjourned.

Native Son Gets Air Job in U.S.

OTTAWA (CP)—Leader of a R.C.A.F. squadron of Hampden bombers in repeated raids against Germany and enemy occupied territory, Wing-Commander A. C. P. Clayton, native of Victoria, B.C., has been posted by the R.A.F. as chief instructor of an operational training unit in the United States.

Veteran of more than three years' service with the R.A.F., Wing-Commander Clayton has carried out about 60 operational flights against the enemy, over Mannheim, Hamburg, Kiel, Brest, Berlin, Paris, Stettin, Leipzig and Magdeburg.

He won the Distinguished Flying Cross in December, 1940, for his brilliant record of bombing operations and was awarded a bar the next year as the result of a daylight raid on the railway marshalling yards at Lille. Clayton was born at Victoria in 1926 and educated in Vancouver.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Results of the annual election of the International Typographical Union conducted by mail May 30 now announced by Woodruff Randolph, secretary-treasurer, discloses C. M. Baker of San Francisco was re-elected president by a vote of 29,435 to 27,409 over Jack Gill of Cleveland.

Thomas A. Holland of Vancouver, B.C., defeated Don F. Hurd of Oakland, Cal., 30,122 to 24,937, for the second vice-presidency.

Delegates to the Trade and Labor Congress of Canada will be Harold B. Dempsey of Toronto and William R. Trotter of Vancouver.

Conscription Bill Debate

Quebec 'Betrayed' Cardin Tells House

OTTAWA (CP)—Keynote of opposition in Quebec province to the government's conscription policy was sounded in the House of Commons Thursday by Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Lib., Richelieu-Vercheres, Que., who declared national unity had been unnecessarily endangered by raising this issue.

He charged Prime Minister Mackenzie King had failed to respect his word to the Quebec electors and his pledge to them never to bring in conscription for service overseas.

Mr. Cardin said no evidence had been produced by the government to indicate a necessity for raising the conscription issue at this time, and the Prime Minister had said conscription was not now necessary.

"If conscription is not necessary at the present time, why in the name of God apply it?" he asked.

It was the second day of debate on the Prime Minister's bill 80—repealing section 3 of the National Resources Mobilization Act and opening the way to unlimited conscription by Order-in-Council without any further reference to Parliament. Six members spoke.

QUEBEC SPEECHES
Mr. Cardin's speech was believed to be the first of a long series from Quebec Liberals in opposition to the measure.

There were indications, too, the votes against the bill might come from other quarters, particularly the C.C.F. group, unless the government accepts widening amendments.

At the conclusion of his speech Mr. Cardin was surrounded by congratulating members, including Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Conservative House Leader Hanson.

Mr. Cardin, who spoke in English, said that by advancing this measure, the government was disregarding its word to the people of Quebec and to the country at large, without making any attempt to establish that situation had arisen to necessitate such action.

It was the history of the 1917 conscription measure repeating itself. "As was the case in those days—not a scintilla of evidence has been produced to show the necessity of having recourse to such a measure at the present time—not one word."

THROUGH BACK DOOR

Rev. T. C. Douglas, C.C.F., Weyburn, Sask., said there was the danger conscription could be imposed by "the back-door method" if the government were given the power sought in the amendment to the National Resources Mobilization Act.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King had said the conscription power existed under the War Measures Act but Mr. Douglas said that if this were so then Clause 3 of the N.R.M.A. was meaningless when it was placed in the act.

(Clause 3 limits the service of men called for compulsory service to Canadian soil and territorial waters.)

Mr. Douglas said Mr. King had made a pledge to the people in plebiscite speeches that the whole matter would be referred to Parliament.

He added: "I object to regulating the lives of young men by Order-in-Council."

He said the people of Canada were bewildered by the course of action taken by the government to introduce conscription.

FOR ALL CANADA

Arthur Roebuck, Lib., Toronto-Trinity, said that those members whose constituents had voted "Yes" in the manpower plebiscite should support the amendment. Canadians fighting overseas at present as volunteers were fighting for all Canada.

T. L. Church, Con., Toronto-Broadview, said the government bill amending the Mobilization Act was not clear and he could see no necessity for it. The government had been given a majority to carry on the war, and so far "it is a Liberal war, based on half-way effort."

Capt. A. J. LaPointe, Lib., Matapedia-Matane, Que., who spoke in French, said he opposed conscription for overseas service because he felt sure the voluntary system now in force was adequate to meet Canada's war needs. He paid tribute to the R.A.F. and the civilian population of Great Britain. Canada owed her freedom in large measure to the valiant defence of the British Isles.

Britain Would Consider Proposals From India

LONDON (CP)—L. S. Amery, Secretary for India, told the House of Commons Britain is unlikely to take the initiative in reopening political negotiations with India, but would consider "any proposals submitted in agreement by leaders of Indian public opinion."

This reiteration of the government's attitude followed publication in the London Daily Mail of an interview with Mohandas Gandhi, Indian Nationalist leader, saying he was determined to press his demand that Britain quit India with a new campaign of nonviolent nonco-operation.

The Mail quoted Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, former president of the All India Congress, as declaring he would back Gandhi. A British offer of post war Dominion status was rejected in April by both the Congress Party, representing the dominant Hindu population, and Moslem groups.

There are 25,000,000 insects in the air above each square mile of the earth's surface, according to estimates.

Soldier Pension For Life Urged

OTTAWA (CP)—Every man in the fighting forces should be guaranteed $50 a month for life and $50 monthly should also be guaranteed to his wife for the rest of her life, whether her husband lived or died, New Democracy Leader Blackmore told the House of Commons Thursday.

He spoke in debate on the amendment to the National Resources Mobilization Act which would permit the government to send men called for compulsory military service to territory beyond Canada if this were considered necessary.

Mr. Blackmore said a "liberal allowance" should be granted for each child born to men in the service, with the first payment at birth and continuing on a monthly basis until the child reaches 16 years of age.

MEDICAL CARE

State hospitalization, medical care and dental care should be provided. Housing, fuel and lighting should be assured and educational facilities should be available for each child.

Mr. Blackmore said the government had failed to make use of the natural resources of the country for the war effort.

"In the face of palpably and obviously existing facts, the prime minister's fervent and enthusiastic and almost rapturous or even ecstatic effusions claiming that this government has accomplished complete mobilization of Canada's resources appear merely gaudy and flamboyant twaddle, hollow, unsubstantial and deceptive," said Mr. Blackmore.

The Social Credit movement had advocated complete mobilization of Canadian resources in peace and war, but the government had failed to mobilize these resources despite the power given to it to do so, under the National Resources Mobilization Act.

Mr. Blackmore said human resources had been mobilized in "the most wasteful manner."

B.C. Fliers Missing

CHILLIWACK (CP)—Sgt. Harry Ford of the R.C.A.F. is missing after air operations last Monday. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Ford of Chilliwack have been advised.

Three other Chilliwack airmen have been reported missing in the past 10 days, one of them, Sgt. Jack Watson, later being reported a prisoner of war. Still on the missing list are F.O. Ronald Archibald and P.O. F. A. Gerty.

Don't be the missing man.

Overcoming Supplies Bottleneck

A.R.P. Everybody's Duty Says Dominion Chief

OTTAWA (CP)—Hon. R. J. Manion, director of civil air raid precautions, says the problem of getting equipment in the face of priorities is the chief bottleneck preventing A.R.P. organizations from reaching their most efficient pitch.

However, A.R.P. organizations on both the west and east coasts are in "good shape" and prepared to handle an emergency.

Most of the equipment required by A.R.P. workers, such as pumps, hoses and tools, is made of metal or rubber, or both, with the result that civilian protection organizations have to take their turn with war industries and the armed forces in getting materials. "Equipment is coming better now, however," Dr. Manion stated. "And we are spreading it out over the various areas. Of course, no one group thinks it has enough equipment, but obviously we have to give everyone a fair break with what is available."

"We are in good shape for first aid equipment and the supply of steel helmets is starting to come through pretty well now."

Speaking of the west coast, Dr. Manion said A.R.P. preparations were in "splendid shape" under direction of W. C. Mainwaring at Vancouver and that everyone was "ready for trouble" as far as was possible.

"It is hard to say how long it might be before we are fully equipped," the director acknowledged. "If we reached a point where we think now we would be fully equipped, we should go ahead still further."

"Right now our objective for stirrup pumps is one for each city block. When we reach that point we'll aim at two for each block. Ideally there would be one in every home—but we can't get them."

The federal government was aiding A.R.P. organizations not only by supplying equipment and instruction booklets but by allowing a certain amount of money for A.R.P. work.

In the United States, on the other hand, the states and municipalities received equipment from the federal authorities, but no money.

"A.R.P. work is everybody's duty," Dr. Manion summed up. "It can't all be done by the government. It is voluntary work on a large scale."

China Would Fight 'With Bare Hands'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. Chao-Ying Shih, Consul-General for China in western Canada, told a service club luncheon here Thursday that no matter what China loses, she will keep on fighting Japan "with bare hands."

"We never had the artillery, tanks or planes to fight Japan on any equal basis," he said. "We have been in the fight now for five years, less 26 days, and we still have enough hands to carry on for, shall I say, another 10 to 15 years. Then China will march to victory in company with her allies."

No Real Truce

Nazis Press Indirect Attack On Churches

Louis P. Lochner, chief of the former Berlin bureau of the Associated Press, points out the nature of Nazi attacks on the church, in this article, one of a daily series since his return from internment in Germany.

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

NEW YORK (AP)—Hitler is fighting the established Roman Catholic and Lutheran churches just as relentlessly as he ever did, although outwardly there appears to be a truce.

The church leaders of both faiths haven't been fooled. "They know that Alfred Rosenberg, Hitler's 'ideological leader,' has prepared a secret memorandum, of which a copy is in their possession; in which he demands, in substance, that after the victorious ending of the war nobody who still clings to membership in the Christian churches shall be allowed to hold any government job whatsoever."

One must always remember, in dealing with the German church situation, that the dyed-in-the-wool Nazi regards the Christian religion as a Jewish product. It is therefore anathema to him.

IN DISCARD NOW

That small band of "German Christians" who tried to harmonize Nazism with Christianity by eliminating the Old Testament, the Epistles of St. Paul, the Sermon on the Mount, and who tried to make Jesus out as a foe of Judaism and as an Aryan from Nazareth, now is virtually in the discard so far as any influence on Nazi thinking and Nazi practice is concerned.

During wartime, the attack on the churches is not open; it is indirect.

The rallies of the Hitler Youth Organization are arranged for the very hour when Christian believers flock to their churches. The little boy who nevertheless goes to church with his parent is a pariah, an outcast, a "sissy" to his classmates.

If he persists in ignoring the Sunday rallies, he is thrown out of the organization—and as he grows up later this fact is held against him, wherever he appears to apply for a job.

A Protestant farmer in the Brandenburg area told me how the local Nazi farmers' leader tried to "counteract" the churches by summoning the farmers under his jurisdiction to conferences and meetings during church-time on Sunday mornings.

Samuel Pepys, the famous English diarist, was born on May 31, 1633.

Dafoe Commends Country Doctors

WINNIPEG (CP)—Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, former doctor of the Dionne quintuplets, told a service club here Thursday, the old horse and buggy doctor still knows a lot of tricks that the young fellows never heard of.

"They become so accustomed to working with modern hospital facilities that they have no initiative when they have to make do with whatever is handy," he said. "Many's a time I've had to go out to the barn and pull a hair out of a horse's tail to use for thread to sew up an operation. I don't recommend it, but sometimes that is what I had to do."

Dr. Dafoe assured his audience he was not belittling scientific medicine, but he was just pointing out a country doctor must often handle situations without the aid of science.

"Better transportation makes it increasingly difficult for the country doctor to make a living. Unless state medicine restores the country doctor, his day is finished and personally I am glad to be out of it," he stated.

History-making Agreements THE FRONT AGAINST HITLER IS STRENGTHENED

THE FRONT AGAINST HITLER IS STRENGTHENED by the 20-year mutual-assistance pact between Britain and the Soviet Union. It is one of the momentous developments of the war. It marks the end of Russian isolation. The Soviet Union, no longer suspect, has been received back into the pale of international respectability. Under the pact Britain and the Soviet are pledged not to enter into any negotiations with Hitler's government or any German government that fails to renounce aggression. Both Britain and Russia had individually made it known previously that they would never treat with Hitler and their declarations in this respect have been supported by their records in the war. Now their position has been made doubly definite before the world through this pact.

Their stand has been reinforced by the understanding reached with the United States by Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov on his recent secret visit to Washington, after he concluded the pact with Britain in London. While the United States is not a party to the British-Soviet pact, it has virtually endorsed it through agreement to increase and speed war supplies to Russia; also, by reaching a full understanding with respect to the urgent tasks of creating a second front in Europe in 1942. This means that the second front controversy has been closed and we are going to see a second front without undue delay.

The British-Soviet pact is to carry over from war to peace. It binds Russia to the Churchill-Roosevelt Atlantic charter for the rebuilding of the world. Britain and Russia have specifically agreed to give each other economic assistance after the war, besides working together "in close and friendly collaboration for the organization of security and economic prosperity of Europe." The agreement between the Soviet and the United States provides for the co-operation of the two "in safeguarding peace and security to freedom-loving peoples after the war."

Thus two powers, one on either flank of continental Europe and between them representing five-twelfths of the world's surface with 700,000,000 of its people, have committed themselves jointly to a constructive post-war policy, with the guaranteed co-operation of the United States as the dominant power in the Western Hemisphere. In this, at last, we have something definite with which to counter the "New Order" prospect held out by the Nazis. The three anti-Axis countries are combined to give leadership to the post-war world, with the door left open for like-minded states to join with them. It will be of far-reaching influence among the conquered peoples of Europe. It is the beginning of a new League of Nations, a first step in outlining the world that is to be.

Pacific Command PRIME MINISTER MACKENZIE KING

said in Parliament this week that "the forces of Canada and the United States on the Pacific front have been preparing to meet an imminent attack by the Japanese." In line with this, changes are announced in the Pacific Command. They reflect an appreciation by Ottawa of the increasing importance of Canada's Pacific front and its place in the whole strategy of the Pacific.

The chief of the Canadian general staff, Lieut.-Gen. Kenneth Stuart, known as "the big man of the army," is himself coming to take charge. Defence expansion in this area, presents a major problem in organization. General Stuart, who has been accustomed to handling the vast organization of the Canadian army in wartime, comes well experienced to handle the situation here. As General Officer Commanding he will have charge of matters of strategy for the navy and air force as well as the army. He is well fitted for such a post as he has vision beyond the army. He knows the navy and air force each has a role. "The war can only be won by the intelligent co-operation of all three services," he said recently. "In some cases the navy will have the predominant part; in others, the army or the air force." That is very much the way it is on this coast.

Major-General R. O. Alexander is being promoted to succeed General T. V. Anderson as inspector in the office of inspector general in eastern Canada. He has had a long and distinguished career in the army. As first G.O.C., Pacific Command, his has been the responsibility of organizing this area pretty much from scratch. In this he has shown himself to be a far-sighted administrator as well as a highly efficient officer. If there has been delay at times in getting men and equipment, the fault was not his. He had to do the best he could with what Ottawa gave him. Brigadier Lawrence W. Miller, D.O.C., M.D. 11, is retiring because of age, after a successful army career, during which he has also proved himself to be a capable and wise commander. It will be with regret that the three services here will see these two popular officers leave. Citizens who have worked with them in connection with various activities and who hold both men in high regard will share the feeling of the services.

Asia and Asiatics WRITING IN "ASIA," THE NOTED

Chinese philosopher Lin Yutang quotes Confucius to warn the West that, while the millions of Asia are not taken in by the transparent tricks of the Japanese, they have absorbed many of the sentiments which the Japanese are now attempting to exploit. "Do not ignore a good word because of the bad man who says it," counselled Confucius of old and the Asiatics of today incline to his advice.

"The Asiatics," says Lin Yutang, "do not want Asia for Japan, but they do want Asia for themselves. . . . What can the western democracies tell the Asiatics that they are fighting for? Is there anything the Asiatics can hope for, live for? Europe is to be free after the war. What about Asia? Asia for whom?"

Lin Yutang warns that failure of the so-called white nations to effect a real brotherhood of nations after this war, will inevitably lead to completion of an Asiatic bloc in which he sees included not only China and India, but also Soviet Russia.

The world needs, as much as it needs anything else, a Pacific Charter to complete what the Atlantic Charter began. If the Pacific Charter is written as a practical application of the great principles enunciated by Vice-President Wallace a few weeks ago, the future clash of color, which Lin Yutang fears, need not occur.

Tea News THERE IS A RAY OF HOPE IN THE

tea outlook. We learn from the trade report prepared by the Canadian Grocers' that occupation of Madagascar by the British has improved our position with respect to imports. Defeat of the Japanese air force over Colombo some time before it is possible that shipments from there will be resumed some time.

Since the war spread to the Mediterranean, tea boats have been coming around the Cape of Good Hope. Their route had been close to Madagascar. If the Japanese had beaten us to Madagascar all tea hopes for us in the Western Hemisphere would have been off for the duration.

The odd shipment of tea continues to arrive in Canada and it is forecast we now have enough, including quantities in retail stores, to last until the end of this year. Indian production will come along next month when auctions begin. From then on it will all be a matter of transportation. If the eastern situation clears by the end of the year our supply on at least the present ration basis will be assured for the time being.

Next for the bad news. "Some tea" now arriving in Canada is reported costing much more than the price on which the 10 cents per pound price control subsidy of the War-time Prices and Trade Board is based. The trade announcement says it looks as if "the board" will have to review the situation again. In plain words, for the consumer that means another healthy boost in tea prices may be just around the corner.

Notes Slogan for the times—"Idle gossip sink

warships."

We are hearing about another hit parade these days consisting of Jap warships in the Pacific.

"End-use" is the name being applied to the system by which private businesses are being regulated to meet the wartime needs of the state. Nonessential industries are being restricted or wiped out, to make manpower and materials available for war purposes.

To Canada's Second Victory Loan 1,700,000 Canadians subscribed $845,000,000. Translated into terms of United States income and United States population, these results could be compared to an American loan yielding $13,000,000,000 from 20,000,000 subscribers.

We are limited to half a pound of sugar for each person each week. The amount was fixed by experts, who say that half a pound is needed and no more. The man or woman who uses more is a chiseler. The person who uses less is depriving his body of nourishment it needs particularly when, as now, nervous stress is considerable.

CONSCRIPTING WEALTH From Financial Post

The real wealth of this country is its ability to produce the sinews of war. That involves the use of management, materials, manpower and machinery. The government has the most complete powers to summon all these to the war effort and to organize them for total war. Further diversion of these resources for war can be achieved only at the expense of the living standards of the civilian population. If and when the government wishes further to reduce the living standards of the civilian population in the interests of a more intensive war effort, the civilian population stands ready to make this sacrifice.

There are, of course, other forms of wealth; farms and houses, for instance. It is difficult to see how conscription of these, which means simply a transfer of their ownership from the people to the state, would strengthen our war effort.

Money in the form of bank deposits, stocks and bonds and mortgages, even of life insurance policies, is not wealth. They are merely a token of material assets under the C.C.F. Hon. Ian Mackenzie and other wealth conscripters overlook. They never make it clear whether they are talking about the title deeds or the property itself. Probably they do not know what they really do mean.

Bruce Hutchison BACK AGAIN

IT IS ALWAYS NICE to get back to Victoria. (It seems to me I have said that before and, indeed, it is one of the only three ideas I possess, and I forget the other two.) It is doubly nice at this season when our island is bathed in the lush green of early summer and the tropical rains of the monsoon and all the strawberries are mouldy with moisture. It is doubly nice, I say, because the people here are so attractive. Attractive, because their minds are made up about things.

Where I come from no one's mind is made up about anything. Everything is in chaos. Every idea is in a constant state of flux. Every plan is in continual dissolution. No one knows where we are going. Oh, they put a great front on it in Ottawa and Washington. They issue fine statements. They manage to cover the revolution with a good varnish of glamour. But no one knows what is happening to us, not really, not in the larger sense.

Here, on the other hand, everything is fixed and settled. Everyone's mind is at rest. Everyone knows that the war is being mismanaged completely, that the government is hopeless, that Parliament is in a coma and that we are going to hell as rapidly as possible. This atmosphere of certainty is refreshing after several months of mental chaos in our capitals, where men work all day and all night and then read that the people at home are cursing them for not getting on with the war.

ADVANTAGE NOT THAT I AM DEFENDING OUR GOVERN- ment. Our government, with a few brilliant exceptions, is a truly lamentable collection of mediocrities, but, like the saloon piano player in the old tale, it is doing the best it can and should not be shot. The people at home, however, have an enormous advantage in criticizing the government and the conduct of the war. They have no information.

This is always an enormous advantage which, within my own limited field, I have used to the full. It is only when you begin to get a little information that you hesitate to write, that your typewriter slows down, that you begin to show uncertainty. So long as you have no information, you can write on and on and appear to know everything. Once you know something you are bound to appear to know nothing because you hesitate then to say much.

Well, that is the way it is in Washington and Ottawa. Men who have information, who realize the enormous difficulty of the problem—which is nothing less than to revolutionize the society of North America in the course of a few months—hesitate to express final opinions on anything. You will get less positive ideas from the top men in the two capitals than you will get in the Union Club or at the corner of Douglas and Fort Streets at any noontime.

REMOVED IT IS BETTER, I suppose, to be removed little from the whirling picture for, when you are close at hand, you are continually befuddled; you are lost in a maze of detail and, at the end of the day, you wonder whether the war will run on for another week; whether the world will not end before the weekend. That is the frame of mind of men who are brought face to face with the fantastic complications of total war whereas in the Union Club and at the corner of Douglas and Fort it all seems quite simple. You have so many men, so much material and you put them together and get a perfect war effort and win the war and live happily ever afterwards; and if the government can't do that then it is no good. The fact that even Hitler can't do it makes no difference. Our governments should be able to.

People ask me what is happening down there. I have tried to reply in a series of very dull reports which have appeared in this place during the last few days, but I am aware that they add up to nothing. They are like pieces in a jig-saw puzzle scattered at random—no use until they are put together. And they can't be put together—not yet anyway, not, perhaps, until after the war.

Meanwhile, by an amazing feat of organization this continent is getting on with the war, but no one knows precisely how or where it all leads to. Don't let any of the prophets tell you that he knows. Don't be fooled by any of the blueprints and the slogans. This process is so immense; our whole system of life, industry, economics and politics has been so uprooted, so changed, bent, twisted and confused that the end result is beyond the grasp of anyone.

The kind of system that emerges from it all is outside the ability of any artist to paint. It will not be the system we have known. It will not be the cut-and-dried system that the Socialists, Social Crediters, Technocrats or any other of the economic religions preach. But in the meantime, as I had started out to say, it is nice to be back here because in this place you can luxuriate in the beautiful illusion that everything is going along normally. It is a fine feeling for a change, even if you know it's not true.

As a patriotic suggestion, if men must keep on striking, let them do it at the enemy, not at factories.

Modesty wasn't the reason for long engagements in the old days. It took Ma a year to make the trousseau petticoats.

TODAY'S MIGHTIER TASKS From Ottawa Journal

We speak of the Parliaments of the past; of the "giants of old days." How many of us stop to reflect that the tasks which confronted our Parliaments and public leaders of the past were as nothing compared to those which beset Parliaments today? Mr. Flanagan, modest man that he is, would not compare himself with Mr. Fielding. Yet Mr. Flanagan, in a single month, collects and spends more revenue than Mr. Fielding collected and spent in a year; will collect and spend more revenue this year than was collected and spent by all our finance ministers combined from Confederation to the close of the first World War. And as in finance, so in other things. Government, in all its aspects, has become desperately more difficult. Are we helping Parliament and democracy when we repeat the things that Hitler says about them: That they are "decadent," and "futile," and "aimless" and "corrupt?" Hitler says these things, and all the people who would like to see democracy and Parliaments go down gleefully repeat them.

Flour-bag Dress Illegal (From Winnipeg Free Press)

This is the end of an era, the era of flour bag dresses. Nothing has more typified the last 12 years on the prairies than those rough, sturdy, home-dyed and home-made skirts and blouses and dresses which somewhere, if one looked closely, still revealed a faint "from Canadian wheat" or "98 lbs. when packed." They were not abundant. Most women didn't have to wear them. But in those tragic years of drought, grasshoppers, feed shortages, give-away prices for grain and livestock, subsistence relief and mounting debts, flour bag dresses were symbolic of the time.

It was a time when children missed school in the bitter winter days because their only shoes were worn through or their meagre lunch wouldn't sustain them in the cold, or they couldn't buy another scribbler or pencil. Their fathers worked icy pump handles without mittens, and wondered how long cows would give milk on two feeds a day of four-year-old wheat straw. And their mothers, never leaving the farm for months on end because they had nothing to wear (and it wasn't idle chatter with them but the simple, unspoken truth) wistfully thumbed through the mail order catalogues for new ideas on how to make up last month's flour bags into girls' dresses.

Flour bags were symbolic not only of destitution but also of resourcefulness and courage. The father, with rusty hawkeye and a pair of pliers, miraculously put his worn-out seed drill into running shape and prayed for at least one good rain that summer. The children gathered cow chips and twigs for the cookstove, and pigweed and dandelion leaves for greens. And their brave, selfless mother cut up another flour bag into a respectable garment.

But she has cut up her last one. No more flour bag dresses. Not that the destitution is gone; much of it is still there. Or that the prairie housewife has grown too proud; she hasn't. Or that she is growing too old to fend for herself; she isn't.

It is the war. Ottawa has announced that henceforth "dresses and underwear made from well-washed flour bags are illegal under wartime conservation measures." All flour bags are urgently needed for normal agricultural purposes, it was said.

City women must sacrifice, too. They can't have more than nine jumps on any of their new dresses, they learned some weeks ago.

Senators Rap Ship Program

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's shipbuilding program was criticized by two Conservative members of the Senate when the Upper House gave consideration to, and subsequently passed, the $2,000,000 war appropriation bill Thursday.

Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, Conservative senate leader, complained of "a veil of secrecy" which, he said, Munitions Minister Howe had drawn over shipbuilding activities. Senator C. E. Tanner, Conservative, Nova Scotia, spoke of the shipbuilding program as "the most calamitous and futile of any of the government's efforts."

Senator B. F. Smith, Conservative, New Brunswick, and Senator J. A. Calder, Conservative, Saskatchewan, urged a closer scrutiny of the government's heavy war expenditures.

The Senate also passed, without discussion, the government's loan bill, providing authority for borrowing $750,000,000 to meet maturing government obligations, a routine measure which comes before parliament about every second year.

Senator A. W. Hugesen, Liberal, Quebec, placed before the Upper House at the opening of the session a proposal that the complete destruction of a Czech village, announced by German authorities, should be answered by the demolition of a German village by allied air force. He said such action would act as a deterrent to further "obscene crimes" by Nazi forces and would aid the morale of the people of occupied Europe.

Ministers made known information concerning the activities of their departments, but Munitions Minister Howe had failed to divulge information to which Parliament and the Canadian people had a right, said Senator Ballantyne.

In reply to a statement by Dr. King that the United Kingdom has asked that secrecy be maintained regarding shipbuilding, Senator Ballantyne said officials of the Munitions and Supply Department had given out more information than Mr. Howe himself and shipbuilding activities of the United States received wide publicity.

The government had made a mistake in establishing new shipbuilding yards while only two of the existing 19 yards were fully manned, Senator Ballantyne also expressed opposition to the construction of destroyers in Canada. Cargo vessels were more badly needed and five or six could be built in a comparatively short time for the money to be spent on two destroyers.

The necessity of obtaining a British ship to carry men of the Hongkong expedition and an American ship to carry supplies was illustrative of Canada's shipping position, Senator Tanner said. Had suggestions for constructing wooden ships been adopted hundreds could have been built with little delay.

Lions Installation

President Joe Chanter of the Lions Club announced at Thursday's luncheon that installation of president-elect Robert Peers and other newly elected officers would take place July 2.

Mr. Chanter also announced that seven members of the Victoria club would attend the Lions district convention in Vancouver June 18, 19 and 20. They are—Robert Peers, J. Fuller, E. Horsman, E. Emery, G. Holt, D. Hebb and Mr. Chanter.

Dedication of the Lions welcome sign, erected near the C.P.R. wharf on Belleville Street, was postponed for two weeks due to uncompleted arrangements.

3rd Scottish Representative

The "Guinea and Kiss Bounty," both personally bestowed by a lovely lady, was found an effective inducement to bring recruits into an early highland regiment. It is not said which the hardy though shy stalwarts found the more irresistible.

Victorians from 57 walks of life have already joined the 3rd (Reserve) Battalion, The Canadian Scottish Regiment (M.G.) without inducement or promise of any kind other than to be given an opportunity to prepare themselves to defend their homes.

In the ranks of this unit of our "citizens' army" are represented 57 professions, businesses, crafts and trades, and there is room for more. It is one "service" organization wherein membership will never be denied because classifications are all filled.

Thirty-five owners of independent businesses rub shoulders with a score or more office and store managers, and when the busy civilian soldiers break off for a smoke midway through a training session on a Monday or Wednesday night, they find themselves in the midst of over 50 office workers and store clerks and almost half a company of industrial and building trades' craftsmen who turn out to further their bit after keeping the wheels of war industry turning at top speed during the day.

Students find the 3rd Scottish gives them a chance to get a good head start against the day when the active service is open to them.

Amongst others of the larger groups are found civil servants, these being equalled in numbers by those coming from banks, transportation companies, investment and real estate firms. In the ranks also will be found school teachers, musicians, surveyors, foresters, butchers, bakers and cooks; a golf professional and a druggist; watchmakers, jewelers and a librarian; loggers and fishermen representing B.C. key industries and, believe it or not, over 20 farmers find time, in spite of labor shortage on the land and long hours, to put in two nights a week to learn the art of extermination of noxious human weeds.

The 3rd Scottish may well claim to be a truly representative "citizens' unit" and it looks for more such good citizens to bring the battalion up to full war strength. Anyone between the ages of 17 and 50 not eligible for Canada's active forces should phone E6119.

The distinctive elements which make up the principles of the new Canadian School of Art which has evolved from the original "Group of Seven" were lucidly revealed in the Ottawa Film Board's sound film shown under the joint sponsorship of the Island Arts and Crafts Society and the Soroptimist Club Wednesday evening at the Y.W.C.A.

This beautiful film, in technicolor, was the story, in picture, with running commentary by a member of the Canadian National Gallery, of Alexander Young Jackson, one of the most famous artists of the late Group of Seven. But in the early part of the story reference was also made to other pioneer Canadian artists who painted the Canadian scene in the "new" way, names included being Tom Thomson, J. E. H. Macdonald, Arthur Lismer and Harris. These were referred to as "the new voice of Canada." The pictures which followed showed Alexander Young Jackson, with canvas and paint-box, travelling by canoe, sleigh, and snowshoe in search of autumn and winter themes which have since become famous.

The picture was followed by a color film, lent by the B.C. Government Travel Bureau. John Kyle, president of the Arts and Crafts Society, introduced the film with a short biography of A. Y. Jackson, and Miss Doris Holmes, vice-president of the Soroptimist Club, thanked those who had contributed to the pleasure of the evening.

Officials Pleased With A.R.P. Test

Victoria's largest and most far-reaching A.R.P. test, staged in the metropolitan area Thursday night, was "quite successful," Inspector A. H. Bishop, civilian protection officer, said this morning.

The test, in which more persons took part and in which a larger number and greater variety of incidents were staged than in any previous practice, brought into play military engineers, the city auxiliary and regular fire departments, city engineering, rescue, hauling, demolition and decontamination squads, as well as regular A.R.P. staffs and auxiliary first aid, stretcher-bearers, ambulance drivers and nursing units.

Mayor Andrew McGavin followed each incident. In the central control room during the test were Fire Chief Alex Monroe, Dr. C. S. Beals, instructor in gas warfare; Corry Wood, Red Cross Society; R. Hamilton Smith and Duncan K. Kennedy of the City Hall; Police Chief J. A. McLellan, and R. Kipling and Dr. G. A. B. Hall, St. John Ambulance Association.

Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, deputy civilian protection officer, who also is district warden for the downtown area, had charge of the staging of the practice from the district control room in the Eagles' Hall, View Street. The central control room was fully staffed for the test.

26 INCIDENTS

The test began at 8 and 26 "incidents" were run off in quick succession.

City firemen "rescued" four persons from an upstairs room of Prince Robert House and brought to safety a "stranded" person from the roof of the Y.M.C.A. building with their aerial ladder. The heavy wrecking department of the A.R.P. wrestled with a large bus "damaged" at Yates and Langley and a car turned on its side at Yates and Blanshard.

Incendiary bomb extinguishing technique was tried out on burning bombs on Johnson Street Auxiliary firemen held at bay and extinguished a fire raging in a shack on a vacant lot at Humboldt and Douglas Streets.

The new Hind stretcher, designed for use in narrow halls and stairways, was tested as rescue squads lowered a "victim" from the roof of the City Hall.

Military engineers took charge in removing a "delayed action bomb" from the intersection of Fort and Blanshard.

"Mustard gas" on Johnson Street was decontaminated, and persons suffering from gas burns were treated.

All "casualties" were treated at first aid posts at George Jay and Sir James Douglas Schools.

Cologne People Like Madmen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The office of Facts and Figures quotes a letter from a worker in Cologne declaring "every one" in that devastated German city "is complaining and asking when all this madness is going to come to an end."

O.F.F. said the letter was broadcast by the secretly-operated radio, "European Revolution," and that the writer worked in the United West German Car Works.

"It is a wonder that I am still living," the letter said. "We were on the night shift and the West German Car Works were hit pretty badly . . . the railway station was hit . . . in the inner city, I saw hardly one undamaged house. The building of the police department was badly hit, and so were the Bismarck Bridge, the theatre and the movie house at the railway station."

"Wild rumors are floating about concerning the number of killed people. . . I am afraid that a lot of people in the air raid shelter basements which were insufficient for the old crews have been destroyed. Every one of us is running around like madmen."

Huge Reserves For 'Rainy Day'

The present is the most intelligent time for building up the reserves of the unemployment commission, because everyone is working and the weekly contributions are not missed from salaries. Dr. Allon Peebles, executive director of the commission, with headquarters in Ottawa, said in Victoria Thursday.

Dr. Peebles, former chairman of B.C.'s health insurance commission, disclosed the insurance fund has already reached a reserve of $50,000,000 and is being built up at the rate of $60,000,000 a year. Since Jan. 1, this year, when people were able to collect, approximately $100,000 has been paid out. This is an inconsequential amount, Dr. Peebles said.

HUGE RESERVE

"We expect to have a huge reserve, should widespread unemployment ever occur again," the director said. Approximately 2,250,000 Canadians are paying into the fund.

"We do not expect to pay out much as long as the war lasts—our work now is merely a matter of accumulating reserves," he said.

On his present trip across the country, Dr. Peebles is inspecting his offices and seeing that they are prepared to do detail work for the national selective service, under Elliott M. Little. He was accompanied from Ottawa by K. Lochman, of the Dominion civil service, and they are conferring with J. H. McVety, superintendent, Pacific region, and Charles Henley, western representative of the national selective service director.

Today Dr. Peebles went up island to inspect his Nanaimo office and will also visit Port Alberni, where the commission is opening offices.

BIG LOAD

"We are looking over our machinery and getting ready to take over an additional load," Dr. Peebles said, as he told how unemployment commission officers already had been instrumental in moving a large number of prairie workers to employment in B.C. war industries.

"Where there is a surplus of labor in one place, without men, and a surplus of laborers without work, in another, it will be our duty to move the men to where the work is," Dr. Peebles said.

Gloomy and depressing subjects were ruled out and only one example of abstract art was included when over 200 works, by artists ranging from Leonardo da Vinci to Walt Disney, were selected for therapeutic use in a tuberculosis hospital.

You'll never be satisfied with anything else once you see RINSO WHITENESS

MOTHER: I do declare! Your little boy's blouse is so much whiter than Helen's. I'm jealous.

FRIEND: Goodness! There's no need to be jealous! Use Rinso, the way I do. Rinso gives the whitest wash; and besides, it keeps washable colors bright as new.

MOTHER: That sounds marvelous. I'm so glad to know Rinso is good for both colors and whites.

FRIEND: Yes, indeed! Rinso is best for all the wash. And you never have to rub or scrub with Rinso. My, how that helps make clothes last!

MOTHER: I'm certainly going to get Rinso and use it this coming washday.

FRIEND: That's smart. You'll never be satisfied with anything else once you've tried Rinso. And be sure to get the GIANT box for extra economy.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

Worried About Fuel? Here's a Suggestion

As everybody knows, the Fuel Controller is urging home owners to stock up on coal now, against next winter's fuel shortage. To this suggestion, Canada's National Research Council and National Housing Administration add another in a recent booklet: "... there is everything to be said in favor of insulation and nothing against it. A citizen, in insulating his house, is not only helping himself but performing a patriotic duty."

You see, the point is, Johns-Manville Rock Wool Home Insulation will help you save up to 30% on fuel next winter—and every winter—while making your home more comfortable all year round. To quote from the booklet mentioned above: "The initial outlay on insulation is soon recovered, since the annual saving in the fuel bill will compensate."

If you would like a free copy of this government-sponsored booklet, simply drop a card to Johns-Manville, 199 Bay Street, Toronto, Ont.

St. Louis Pupils In Fine Concert

Parents and friends of St. Louis College pupils annually look forward to the early summer entertainment staged by the students, and Thursday evening in St. Ann's Academy auditorium, they were not disappointed. An audience of more than 300 persons saw gymnastic displays, tap dancing and a one-act comedy and enjoyed orchestral selections. The program will be repeated this evening.

The Senior Orchestra was in particularly good form and its opening selections were modern, popular numbers. Later, the young musicians played old favorites. Members of the orchestra are Fraser McPherson, Ken King, Laurier LeBlanc, Dave Schofield, Maurice Cownden, Paul Gauthier, Rene Bombardier, Keith Little, Jack Shrimpton, Pascal Daniel and Jimmy Cairnie. In the junior orchestra are William Earle, Ronald McNeilly, Paul Tinkler, Donald French and Tom Webb.

GYM DISPLAYS

The gym class display was most interesting and well portrayed the important part given to athletics in the school's curriculum. Members of this class are W. Player, J. Lazosky, N. McMillan, J. McNamee, E. O'Neill, F. Player, W. Earl, W. Hithcox, D. Lazosky, B. Allan, D. Christian, B. Earthy, G. Galbraith, B. Porter, D. Whyte, M. Brown, R. Chisholm, Geo. Brown, T. Webb, R. Monaghan, L. Kissinger, R. Gibbons, D. McGregor, R. Wait, John Clarkson, B. Hanley, M. de Montigny, J. Crossley, H. Wright, K. Little, Gordon Brown, P. Knight, G. Clarke, J. Wait, Joe Clarkson, P. de Costa, J. Shrimpton, E. McDonald, R. Paterson, W. Lamont, W. O'Brien, E. O'Brien, L. French, J. Dams, R. Dagg, K. Kissinger, L. Kent, R. Stevenson, A. Stevenson and J. O'Neill.

Walter and Kenneth Gray appeared in tap dances; Ronald McNeilly showed talent with his violin; Keith Little sang solos and Jack Shrimpton appeared in tap dancing; Donald French and John Crossley sang "The Preacher and the Bear." The Cowboy Trio, M. Cownden, L. LeBlanc and P. Gauthier, sang songs of the plains. A lightning bolas display, on a darkened stage, was given by Kenneth Porter. In the sceptre display appeared C. Vaessen, L. French, G. Thomas, P. Daniel and W. QConnell.

COWBOY COMEDY

The one-act comedy was entitled "Summer Comes to the Diamond O." It was full of cowboy humor, and taking part were: Reginald Clarkson, John Battle, Maurice Cownden, Daniel O'Connell, Ken King, Philip Molloy, Gerald Sullivan and Walter Grey. Stage manager was Leo Marston, with Cyril Gagnon and Elton Reid his assistants, Fraser McPherson acted as accompanist.

3 Canadian Scottish City Men Promoted

Promotion of three Victorians serving with the Canadian army overseas is announced. The three, all members of the First Canadian Scottish, are: Capt. C. W. Wightman, who becomes an acting major; Lieut. W. A. George and Lieut. J. M. D. Gillan, now acting captains.

Maj. Wightman, a former employee of the Daily Colonist, who lived at 1720 Beach Drive, was a member of the First Canadian Scottish before the war when it was part of the N.P.A.M. Capt. Gillan was formerly of the office staff of David Spencer Ltd. His wife lives at 1051 Oliver Street. Capt. George's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. George, reside at 263 View Royal Avenue.

The Zeppelin was named for Count von Zeppelin, its inventor.

Unreported

SQDN. LDR. A. M. JARDINE, A.F.C.

whose mother, Mrs. Agnes O. Jardine, 616 Moss Street, has received word from the British Air Ministry that his present whereabouts are unknown. After having served with the R.A.F. in the Far East for the last five years, Sqn. Ldr. Jardine, a native son of Victoria, escaped from Singapore to Java. A number of R.A.F. personnel escaped from that island to Australia but the Victoria man was not among them. Last word his family heard from him was when he surprised his mother and three sisters with a telephone call from Java a few months ago. His decoration of the A.F.C. appeared in the last New Year's honors list.

J. Haldon, Born, Died, Buried in Saanich

Funeral services for John Haldon, 71, who was born and died at "Blink Bonnie Farm," on the East Saanich Road, was held Thursday from St. Stephen's Church, Mount Newton. Rev. Warren Turner conducted the service. Pallbearers were H. A. Porter, G. A. Porter, A. Sangster, B. Black, W. Derringer and R. Derringer. Burial in the churchyard. Hayward's B.C. Funeral Co. had charge.

Mr. Haldon was born in 1870, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Haldon, who came around the Horn by sailing ship from Britain. He went to the backwoods school near the farm and as a boy learned to milk cows and tend sheep.

A bachelor, Mr. Haldon boasted he never attended a picture show or listened to the radio. He never drove a motor car; about twice a year he hitched up his team and drove into Victoria. Every Saturday he went on his wagon to Sidney to sell his stock and produce. In September he always drove to the Saanich fair. On Sundays he went for a pleasure jaunt with his dog, on country roads, behind Ruby.

His farm covered 250 acres and he had fine black sheep, Aberdeen-Angus cattle and Mammoth Bronze turkeys.

In 1898 Mr. Haldon, with his brother, went to the Yukon in search of gold. They walked over the White Pass and on the shores of Lake Bennett built a barge, on which they drifted down to Dawson. Mr. Haldon remained in the Yukon 12 years. In 1915 he traveled to nearly every corner of the North American continent and then came back to live the rest of his life at "Blink Bonnie."

Molotov Speaks

Soviet Says Nazis Exterminating War Prisoners

LONDON (CP) — Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov in a 1,200-word diplomatic note Thursday night accused the German high command of introducing the "universal practice of physical extermination" of war prisoners.

The note, addressed to all governments with which Russia has relations, listed "countless crimes of plunder, destruction, devastation, atrocities, outrages, violence and mass murders," which, it said, have been "carried out in accordance with the plans of the German government."

"Universal plunder of the population of our country in both towns and villages, accompanied by seizure and shipment to Germany of the personal property of Soviet citizens and the property of the Soviet state.

"Utter destruction of towns and villages from which the Nazis were forced to retreat under the blows of the armed forces of the Soviet Union.

"Seizure by the German army of occupation of land given by the Soviet state in perpetuity for the free use of collective farms and the settlement of German managers and German landowners on the seized land.

SLAVE LABOR

"Slave labor and bondage for our workers and peasants under the rule of German Imperialist invaders.

"Forcible abduction of forced labor into Germany of several million Soviet citizens residing in towns and villages and the illegitimate classing of them as prisoners of war.

"Destruction of Russian national culture and the national culture of the peoples of the Soviet Union and the forcible Germanization of Russians, Ukrainians, White Russians, Lithuanians, Latvians, Estonians and other peoples of the U.S.S.R.

"Extermination of the Soviet population, prisoners of war and guerrilla fighters by bloody violence, torture, executions and the massacre of Soviet citizens, irrespective of their nationalities, social standing, sex or age."

Rotary Sponsors 25 Air Cadets

Members of the Victoria Rotary Club, Thursday, unanimously endorsed a resolution of the board of directors to set aside $720 to cover the cost of enrolling and outfitting 25 boys for the Victoria Air Cadets. These boys are not attending high school, but are taking the cadet-training with others at regular drills.

A resolution, passed by an assembly meeting recently, asking that copies of the Department of Public Information's pamphlet, "Canada's War Effort," be sent to all Rotary clubs in the U.S., had been sent to R. W. Mayhew, M.P., it was announced.

It was announced by Ab. Lindsay, president, that the district president's assembly this year would be held in Bellingham, July 12, 13 and 14.

Following the luncheon, a colored motion picture, "Vancouver Island," was shown by C. R. D. Ferris, chief photographer of the B.C. Government Travel Bureau. The film showed Victoria's business and residential districts and recreational facilities of Vancouver Island.

Richard Gatling gave his name to the gatling gun, which he invented.

The word blimp comes from the type name for this craft, which was B-1imp.

GIRL STARTS FUND, KILLED NEXT RAID

ENGLAND (CP) — The day after the first air raid on Bath, Violet Hayden took a shilling (about 23 cents) to a local office and asked to start a fund for bombed-out people. The contribution, a thank offering for their safety from the girl began a fund which stands now at more than £25,000 (about $112,500) but the donors did not live to see the fruits of their gift. Both were killed the next night in another raid.

Don't be the missing man.

Famous Gardens Close

"Inglenook Gardens," Maplewood Road, will be closed to the public next week after 13 years, the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Waddell announced today.

"We regret to have to do this very much," Mr. Waddell said. "But Mrs. Waddell and I aren't getting any younger and it is impossible to obtain help. We've enjoyed every minute of the time we had the gardens open and we made many friendships. We almost cried when we made the decision."

Mr. and Mrs. Waddell created a wilderness on the outskirts of Victoria into a magnificent garden, filled with blooms of many varieties, notably roses, iris and peonies.

Next Sunday will be the last day the garden will be open to any who care to visit it. Mr. and Mrs. Waddell extend a special invitation to men and women of the armed forces.

Mr. and Mrs. Waddell will continue to live at "Inglenook" and will keep the grass cut and the weeds down, but they are going to spend more time resting and less time working hard.

Music Teachers Urged to Promote Love of Good Music

The important part music teachers should play in promoting among laymen an appreciation of good music was emphasized by Mr. Cyril Hampshire, Toronto Conservatory of Music examiner, in an informal talk Thursday at the Y.W.C.A. to an audience of 40 members of the Victoria Music Teachers' Federation and the Alumnae of Toronto Conservatory of Music.

"There is a vast difference between just hearing music, and listening to music. As music teachers one of our first duties to our fellow citizens is to teach people to listen," said Mr. Hampshire, who suggested that the trained musician was sometimes a little biased in his outlook, not always ready to see the layman's point of view in respect to music.

The principal part of the talk was directed more pointedly to the art of teaching music, teachers' problems, and examinations. The four fundamentals in preparing pupils for examination were sound technical foundation, memory training, ear-tests, and sight-reading.

CAUSE OF NERVOUSNESS

"Seventy-five percent of nervousness in the candidate results from lack of ability, lack of preparedness; the other 25% is just excitement," he claimed. Teachers presenting candidates should protect their pupils against the former type of nervousness by seeing that they were thoroughly prepared for the tests of the particular grade in which they were entered for examination. No examiner liked to fail a candidate.

After three days' examination work in Victoria Mr. Hampshire stated that he had found the standard here quite high. One or two of the reports he had turned in were exceptionally good. The general level was much better than last year, and indicated first-class teaching. Teachers were urged not to be too disciplinary in their teaching. The child's individuality should be given a little leeway in interpretation—under guidance, of course.

"Music is vital to mankind," he maintained in pleading for wider dissemination of good taste in music. Even modern industry was providing music for its employees. Doctors and psychologists understood its usefulness. The radio had undoubtedly done much to cultivate a taste for music.

PAYS TRIBUTE

In bringing greetings from Sir Ernest MacMillan, retiring principal of Toronto Conservatory of Music, who is being succeeded by Mr. Norman Wilkes, Mr. Hampshire paid tribute to the fine work which Sir Ernest had done during his long association with the conservatory.

Miss Ethel James, president of the Victoria Music Teachers' Association, introduced and thanked the speaker. Miss Noel Smith and her committee served refreshments during the social half-hour which followed the meeting.

Flying Bishop Weds Schoolmistress

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rt. Rev. Archibald Lang Fleming, Anglican "flying bishop of the Arctic," and Miss Elizabeth Nelson Lukens, associate headmistress at the Agnes Irwin School, were married today at St. Mary's Church in suburban Ardmore.

The couple will leave June 25 for Toronto, the bishop's winter headquarters from which he directs much of the work of his 1,250,000-square-mile top-of-the-world diocese.

Bishop Fleming met Miss Lukens last fall when he visited the Irwin School to address students on Eskimos and the Indians of the far north. They announced their engagement in April.

A native of Scotland, the bishop has served in the far north for 30 years. Miss Lukens, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lewis N. Lukens of Haverford, is a graduate of the Baldwin School, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

The W.A. to Britannia Branch No. 7, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., held a card social Thursday evening in the board room. Mrs. M. Broadbent was in charge of the court whist and H. Jarvis of the cribbage. Winners were Mrs. I. Mullin, Mrs. F. Brittan, Mrs. D. Swan and P. Andrews. Mrs. M. Broadbent, Mrs. P. Stevenson and Mrs. F. Woods served refreshments.

The Columbia Diocesan Board will meet at St. Luke's Church, Cedar Hill, June 19, commencing with communion service at 10.30. Members may take the 9.30 Gordon Head bus or the 9.45 Cadboro Bay bus which pass the church.

Unabated Effort In Child Welfare Urged at Meeting

Continued vigilance in social services was urged at the meeting of the Children's Aid Society board of directors' meeting Thursday evening at Welfare House, Pandora Avenue.

Reports showed that June 1 there were 116 local children under supervision in foster homes, and 34 children from overseas. The family committee reported 11 new neglect cases during May, and 23 hearings had been attended at the Juvenile Court. Twenty-two children were under supervision in adoption homes.

The president, H. S. Hurn, who presided, reported that Monday, June 8, he and Mr. David McMillan, chairman of the finance committee, had accompanied the superintendent, Miss Lyla Mess, and the supervisor, Miss Isabel Sullivan, on a visit to 10 foster homes and to the two receiving homes of the society. He was much impressed, he said, with the happiness and well-being of the children, the kindness and efficiency of the foster-parents, and the high standard of the homes in which children were being placed. The contribution being made by these foster parents to the community could hardly be overestimated.

CONFERENCE VIEW

Miss Mess, who recently returned from San Francisco after attending the regional conference of the Child Welfare League of America held jointly with the welfare conference of the state of California, spoke of the emphasis placed there on the necessity for measures directed at the prevention of child delinquency. The general consensus was that the war should not be allowed to curtail any of the welfare services, particularly where they bore on the child. Teachers, social welfare officers, probation officers, recreational leaders, should be, where compulsory war service was concerned, on the preferred list, and should not be called up for active service until a really definite emergency arose. Such workers, it was felt, should rather be compelled to remain at their posts in an effort to stem the rising tide of delinquency and other problems on the home front.

In her comprehensive report of the conference, given to the board, Miss Mess dealt with discussion of day nursery care, an increasing need in view of the increasing number of women engaged in war industries; war-time marriage problems; the need of special effort to keep boys and girls at school up to a certain age in view of the increasing calls of wartime industries; study of adolescent attitudes and needs; and general future planning on the social welfare front.

Thursday's meeting received reports of other committees and discussed plans for the summer months.

TIPS on the new RAYONS

The new rayon stockings are lovely—every bit as glamorous as silk—BUT you must give them gentle care!

1. When you buy be sure of foot and length measurements.
2. Put them on carefully—just as you did your precious silk ones.
3. Don't use harsh soaps—don't rub or twist them. That weakens delicate threads and results in runs.
4. Do dip them in lukewarm Lux suds the minute you take them off. This saves elasticity—helps them to fit better.
5. When drying gently squeeze out moisture. Don't wring! Then roll them in a turkish towel.
6. Don't use clothespins! Hang over a smooth rod, away from heat and sun.
7. Dry thoroughly. Leave them a full day after you've dipped them before you put them on again. Rayons are stronger when perfectly dry.

For longer wear, dip your rayon or bemberg stockings in LUX after each wearing. Lux whisks away harmful perspiration which rots delicate threads. Lux cuts down embarrassing, costly runs.

Rags Urgent Need For War Purposes

"Any rags today?" It isn't just the junkman. It's your country calling!

Rags are needed everywhere that wheels of war are turning on land and sea and in the air. They're needed for wipers for wheels and engines; for remanufacture into clothing to stretch the supply of raw wools; in the manufacture of roofing; huge quantities of which are being used up for war plants and service establishments; for wrapping of delicately milled parts of machinery and munitions.

In ordinary times about 50 million pounds of rags were collected each year in Canada. Many millions of pounds were imported. In 1940 Canada imported from the United States, Newfoundland, Australia, New Zealand and the Netherlands over 46 million pounds. Now these sources have dried up, and the need has increased many times over.

According to dealers, 80 per cent of rags come from homes; only 20 per cent from industries and tailor shops.

Some weeks ago the department of munitions and supply issued a tender asking for no less than 200 tons of washed and sterilized wipers to be delivered at one time. "That takes a lot of rags."

The director of salvage at Ottawa appeals for the digging out of every last rag that can be spared from every home in this Dominion. Sort the different varieties in separate bundles, keeping those that are clean separated from soiled ones. Get them moving through the local salvage committee, or the junk man.

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

GRIM REAPER stepped in this week and gathered in two of British Columbia's better-known athletes. No longer will Art Willoughby scamper over the basketball court and rugby field or Adam Watson romp over a soccer pitch. The end for Willoughby came while he was serving with the R.C.A.F. in Canada, the Vancouver star having secured his wings as a pilot officer, while Watson suffered fatal injuries while working in a coal mine near Nanaimo.

Willoughby provided Victoria basketball fans with many anxious moments, as he campaigned here for years with mainland cage outfits, in those hectic provincial playoffs against the Dominions. The black curly-haired sharpshooter first made his appearance here with the famous University of British Columbia Thunderbirds and continued to prove a thorn in the sides of the Dominions in later years, as he performed with Vancouver Westerns and Maple Leafs.

Art was one half of the famous "gold dust twins" with cagey Jimmy Bardsley completing the act. Willoughby, Bardsley and Jo-Jo Ross formed a great trio and when at their peak were the backbone of every team on which they played. The threesome stayed together and were never broken up on the cage court until their services were required by a more important team. Bardsley was the long-shot artist of the three and Victoria fans will always remember his famous floater, after Ross or Bardsley had set up the openings. Willoughby had a great competitive spirit and fans always marveled at his marvelous staying qualities despite his slender build. Art was always classed as a "smart" player and there were few tricks of the cage sport he was not familiar with. He was a great athlete and we will miss him.

Watson was a familiar figure on the local soccer pitch, having played here many times with Nanaimo City. He was a member of clubs which included such other familiar names as Jimmy Knight, Uke Grey, the late Daisy Waugh (also killed in a mine accident some years ago) and Pat Edmunds. In closing up extend our sympathies to the families of the two athletes.

There is one disgruntled box lacrosse fan in Victoria. Today we received the following letter from a supporter who signs himself "An Ardent Fan of Boxla":

"I have been an ardent fan of lacrosse for the last 25 years and can truthfully say I have seen most of the topnotch games played in Canada. So, just to get things straight with myself, I would like to find out a few secrets.

"The Services Lacrosse Club had a certain Tom Carney playing for them at the beginning of the season, but he is not playing now. The rumor is that there was a shake-up in the Services camp. This should not have any effect on the players should it? "At the game Tuesday night the Services had a Herbie Smith in goal. I and many others believe that if either Gawley or Ryan, the Services' two previous goalies, had been in the nets they would have won easily. In your paper you state that Smith played better than either of the two previous netminders. I cannot see the reason for such a statement and am sure no one else can."

After talking over the questions mentioned above with our lacrosse writer, we learned that Carney has failed to turn out for the Services club and that is the reason he is not playing. In regard to the playing of Smith we can only say that this particular fan is entitled to his own opinion.

Pigeon Racing

The Victoria and District Racing Pigeon Club held its sixth old bird race of the season over the week-end from Kamloops, an airline distance of 205 miles. There were 95 birds liberated, representing 14 lofts. The birds made fairly good time considering the poor weather conditions. The velocities and positions follow:

	Yards Per Minute
R. Margison	831.1
W. Cox	806.01
A. Hardy	799.02
Knowles Bros.	796.24
J. Bowcott	793.88
W. Tait	791.96
B. Woolley	720.88
S. Knott	717.00
J. Bell	692.95
S. Eden	644.03
A. Renfrew	642.73
W. McPherson	607.86
D. Blackstock	543.00
H. Saville	539.02

R. Margison won the pool. Bill Bryant donated as a special prize for the race from Spence's Bridge a pair of young birds. This special was won by D. Blackstock.

The next race will be from Chu Chua, an airline distance of 246 miles. Birds will be basketed Friday night at the club headquarters, 845 Pandora Ave. Following the basketing the clocks will be checked and set.

Red Dutton's Son Missing

Sgt. Pilot Joe Dutton had made his 15th flight with R.C.A.F. bombing squadrons over Germany recently. Then he made his 16th and did not return. He is officially reported "missing." Joe had been overseas nearly a year. His father, the old Princess Pat hero of that other war, is in Calgary at the head of a big construction company.

Alex, the youngster, is at Pickering College, taking an examination today. He has been eager to join his brothers for months, had to be forcibly restrained in school by his parents last fall. His brother Norman is with an air unit "somewhere in Scotland." From left to right: Norman, Alexander, "Papa" Dutton, the flaming hockey leader of the Brooklyn Americans, and Joe.

Mrs. Jack Todd City Champion

Adding an 86 Thursday to her first round of 91 for a 36-hole medal score of 177, Mrs. Jack Todd captured the women's city golf championship for the second time. In the tournament played over the Oak Bay links Mrs. Todd edged out Mrs. E. Jackson, Uplands, defending titleholder, by two strokes.

After taking a 95 on the first round, Mrs. Jackson put on a great closing rally Thursday to post a smart 84 for the day's best round.

Tied for low net honors for the two days were Mrs. Charlie High, Gorge Vale, and Eileen Pendray, Uplands, with scores of 157. Other prize winners during the tournament were: Low gross for Wednesday, Mrs. J. Todd, 91; low net, Mrs. C. High, 77; low gross for Thursday, Mrs. E. Jackson, 84; low net, Mrs. Piercy, 74. The prizes were presented by Eileen Benson, vice-captain of the Victoria Golf Club, in the clubhouse. It was announced the sum of $21 was realized and turned over to the Red Cross Society.

Coach and Horses Win Game in 11th

Softball followers saw one of the finest games in years Thursday night as the Coach and Horses defeated Douglas Tire in an 11-inning struggle 6 to 5. It was a B section clash.

With the clubs deadlocked 5 to 5 at the end of the ninth, extra play was called, and in the last of the 11th the Coach and Horses pushed home the clincher. Reid opened the inning with a two-bagger, advanced to third on a wild pitch and scored when DeGirolamo bunted and there was a collision as the ball was fielded. Hough was the winning hurler, with Minnis going the distance for Douglas Tire.

In a women's league game Sidney turned back the Adverts 15 to 7.

Don't be the missing man.

Tell Story On Black

By SCOTT YOUNG
TORONTO (CP)—Retirement of Vancouver's Ken Black from all but charity golf competition recalls this story about the 1937 Canadian amateur tournament in Ottawa: One night Black was fooling around on a driving range, chipping to the green with an iron held backwards. A gal watched him awhile, then walked over casually and remarked: "I'm only starting this game myself, but I'm sure you'll do much better if you hold the club with the face pointing towards the green."

Ken thanked her politely and reversed the club. Gayle Smith and Mel Peterson are juggling heatedly for top spot among western jockeys. Each has won 20 races a couple of days ago. Vancouver's racing season starts June 27 and the drums are beating. Not many tracks on this continent can match Toronto Dufferin's betting system. The mutuels work on a $1 basis, and among the bets is a

Boxla Teams Get Rough

Bays Take Thriller

When whackier, wilder games of lacrosse are played in Victoria, Douglas Tire and James Bay will play them. Out in the pint-sized box at the Sports Centre Thursday night, these two clubs slugged it out with gusto, Bays finally winning 20 to 17 after both clubs had done their damndest to help fill all the spare rooms in the city's two hospitals.

Probably the roughest contest ever witnessed here, the lads warmed up in the first half to a hectic second half session which involved every edict in the rule book and caused rival managers Ted Menzies and Gus Monro to blow their respective tops.

The boys let down their hair in earnest while referees Ed "Cotton" Brynjolfsson and Henry Cockin made no special exertion to stop them. While there were no personal scraps and the penalty parade was no larger than usual, there was more slashing, illegal checking and teeth loosening body slams in the 60 minutes of play than are usually spread across three or four games.

Sitting on the upper seat of the players' box, manager Menzies of the Bays, kept up a fluent running tirade at the referees while doing his level best to coach his short handed squad to a win. The eventual three-ring circus started off as respectably as a temperance meeting. The lads played pretty fair lacrosse in the first quarter, although tiremen's Indian string did not measure up to past performances. The redskins seemed to suffer from the trip down from Nanaimo. Score at the end of the quarter was 3 to 3.

Came the second quarter and Bays trampled all over their opponents. Led by Arnold Ferguson and Tom McKeachie they caught Chief Gussie's team-dreaming and outscored them 7 to 2. Score at half-time was 10 to 5, animosity was slight, law and order prevailed.

PLAY GETS ROUGH

But the third quarter—that was a horse of another hue. After Bays had scored two quickies, Douglas Tire started to roll, and so did players—all over the floor. Tiremen outscored the opposition seven goals to three in that quarter, which saw Bays' Tom McKeachie slugged over the head and knocked as cold as the polar cap. Sid Anderson boarded out of the game and Douglas Tire's Gibb Stevens hit by a bevy of Bays players, who collectively cracked one of his ribs. Other players suffered minor abrasions and contusions.

Bays outscored their opponents 7 to 5 in the final canto to stretch a one-goal lead to three. The boys played just as roughly as in the third, but there were no casualties for some reason or other.

Arnold Ferguson was again the standout of the night. Bays' ex-Adman stayed in the game for the whole 60 minutes, spent most of his time breaking up Douglas Tire plays, and still found time to score six goals. Big Ernie Ball matched Ferguson's total with six of his own.

Gibb Stevens was Chief Gussie's standout of the night. He kept his team in the running in the last quarter, scored six goals altogether and played a smart, defensive game. Andy Ovcharick and Bobby Barr with four goals apiece trailed him.

There was little to choose in the goal-tending. Both winners, Buzz Long and tireshooter Joe Bryant played brilliantly in the pinches. Long stopped 34 shots, Bryant 32.

Teams and scores follow:
Bays—Long, Ball 6, Fraser 2, McAuley, Davey, Costello 3, Travis, Ferguson 6, Brown, McKeachie 2, Anderson 1, Duncan, Douglas Tire—Bryant, Stevens 6, Thomas, W. White, Doug. White 1, Barr 4, Perry 1, Cooke, Don White, Moffat, Goode 1, Ovcharick 4, Robbins.

Alsab Laid Up With Leg Injury

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Al Sabath's colt, Alsab, was found Thursday to have suffered a leg injury and will be unable to do any racing for a month.

Trainer Sarge Swenke said the injury was a "blind splint" on Alsab's foreleg and that the colt was suffering from this ailment when he finished second to Shut Out in the Belmont Stakes last Saturday.

A splint ailment is a bony growth on the side of the splint bone of the foreleg, and when it is blind it can only be discovered by X-ray.

The injury will keep Alsab out of the $25,000 Dwyer Stakes at Aqueduct June 20, and probably the $25,000 Yankee Handicap at Suffolk Downs July 4.

Unless unforeseen developments occur, he may be ready to go in the $50,000 Arlington classic at Chicago July 25 and the $50,000 American Derby at Chicago's Washington Park Aug. 29.

Swenke said it will require several days to "cool out" Alsab's leg before the splint can be fired.

CRICKET TEAM

Line-up of the Five C's cricket team for Saturday's match against the Royal Air Force at Beacon Hill, at 2.30, follows: G. Payne, Quinton, J. Payne, Gardiner, Petch, Jackson, P. C. Payne, Attwell, Comley, Erickson and Hood.

King's Filly Captures Oaks

Sun Chariot Triumphs By Length

NEWMARKET, Eng. (CP)—The King's filly Sun Chariot won the Oaks today. It was the first victory in this classic for the royal stables and the first time a royal owner has won the Two Thousand Guineas, the One Thousand Guineas and the Oaks in the same year.

Sun Chariot, 4 to 1 favorite, beat the Earl of Roseberry's Afterthought by one length.

Sun Chariot was leased for her racing career by the King from the national stud of Ireland. Saturday the wartime Derby will be run and another of the King's horses, the unbeaten Big Game, is favorite. Hyperides, winner of the Fakenham Stakes, is rated as his most dangerous rival.

The temperamental Sun Chariot, who won the One Thousand Guineas earlier in the season, lost about six lengths at the start, but overhauled and began to leave her rivals 2 1/4 furlongs from the finish of the 1 1/2-mile course.

The three-year-old filly's time was 2 minutes, 33.15 seconds and it was announced after the race she would not run in the Derby Saturday.

Hogan-Demaret Golf Leaders

TOLEDO, O. (AP)—Lawson Little's putter was the best club in the business Thursday as the "grand slam" amateur king of golf in 1934-35 scored seven birdies in the opening round of the eighth annual Inverness invitational best-ball matches.

The 1940 United States open champion, with the aid of two birdies by partner Lloyd Mangrum, came home with a best-ball count of 62, 9 under par, to take a 1-up victory over Byron Nelson, host pro, and long-hitting Jimmy Thomson.

The Nelson-Thomson 63 was the second best score of the day among the eight pairs of professionals.

Results of the day's opening round in the race for $7,650 in

U.S. Plans Major Tennis Tournaments

NEW YORK (AP)—In spite of shortages of everything from gasoline to gate attractions, United States tennis officials are looking ahead to a 1942 tournament season almost as big as usual and a lot more interesting.

They also point with some pride to the fact that the kids, recent graduates of the junior development program carried on for several years by the United States Lawn Tennis Association, are the ones who will make it that way.

Since Dec. 7 tennis has lost practically a whole generation of established players, as the war took most of the group between 20 and 30 years old off the courts. Of last year's first 10 men, only three still are available, and two of them won't be playing often. Even such older players as Wilmer Allison and J. Gilbre Hall are in the army.

PLAYER SHORTAGE

The shortage of star players, rather than of equipment, appears to be the biggest threat to tournament tennis. Officials were far-sighted enough to earmark plenty of tennis balls for tournament play.

Survivors from last year's top flight of stars, besides Frank Kovacs and Bobby Riggs, who turned pro, are Frankie Parker, Ted Schroeder and Billy Talbert. The women's division, of course, won't be changed much except that the champion, Mrs. Sarah Paulfrey Cooke, isn't expected to play through the season.

Cash-and-war-bonds, with the best-ball scores:

Ben Hogan and Jim Demaret (65), 4 up on E. J. (Dutch) Harrison and Denny Shute (69).

Henry Picard and Sam Byrd (67), 2 up on German Keiser and Chandler Harper (69).

Little and Mangrum (62), 1 up on Nelson and Thomson (63).

Horton Smith and Chick Harbert (67), even with Jimmy Hines and Herman Barron (67).

Thus Hogan and Demaret, the transplanted Texans who won first-prize a year ago, were off in front in the race for this season's top award of $2,150.

Passeau, Lee Save Cubs

Former Wins Ninth

Chicago Cubs had Bill Lee and Claude Passeau, their veteran pitchers, on the block last winter and it is scarcely more than luck that this pair still wears those odd suits the Bruins use for baseball uniforms.

Yet today Passeau and Lee between them have accounted for 17 of the Cubs' 25 victories in the National League and one wonders where the sixth-place Chicago club would be if either or both of these big righthanders had been traded to rival aggregations.

Lee won his eighth game Wednesday and Passeau followed with his ninth Thursday in the shape of a five-hit 7 to 1 triumph over Philadelphia Phils.

The only tally the tallenders made resulted from a fumble by Bill Nicholson in the second inning after Nick Etten had singled.

It was Passeau's 11th straight complete game and his seventh straight victory, although the sequence was interrupted by a siege of appendicitis which kept him in hospital all last week.

The Cubs made 11 hits, three of them by Lou Novikoff.

The only other National League encounter scheduled was between Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals and for the third day in a row weather kept these feudists idle.

YANKS LOSE CATCHER

Half the American League program also had to be postponed, although Detroit Tigers and New York Yankees made a start. The game lasted long enough for catcher Buddy Roser of the Yankees to sprain a muscle in his left leg and have to be helped off the field. Bill Dickey had been hurt the day before and this left the Yankees with only one-able bodied catcher, Ed Keady, a rookie from Kansas City, who never had caught an inning in the major leagues.

He went behind the bat for the Tigers' half of the third inning and then the game was halted, with Detroit leading 2 to 1.

Boston Red Sox completed a sweep of their three-game series with St. Louis Browns by winning 8 to 7 on a ninth-inning run which Jim Tabor singled home. Each team used three pitchers and St. Louis made 13 hits, two more than Boston, and including homers by George McQuinn, Frank Hayes and Tony Ciesola. Cleveland also completed a sweep of its series at Washington by rallying for four runs in the ninth inning to beat the Senators 8 to 6.

COAST LEAGUE

The San Francisco Seals pulled to within a percentage point of fourth-place Seattle Thursday night when they defeated the Rainiers 3 to 2 in a Coast League baseball game at San Francisco. The win left the Seals in a tie with the Rainiers for the upper division spot on the basis of games behind the leading club.

All of San Francisco's scores were unearned as Dick Barrett, trying the second time for his 13th victory of the season, blew up to walk the Seals for a tally in the third and then overthrew third base in the fourth to allow two additional scores.

Bob Joyce limited Rainier batters to five safeties, but Seal hitters collected only five hits from the offerings of Barrett and Mike Budnick.

Another five-hitter was pitched by John Bittner for Hollywood as the Twinks walloped Portland 8 to 2.

Sacramento and San Diego baseball fans should be in a state of nervous collapse from watching their respective favorites bounce in and out of the second place in the league standings.

In the past two weeks, each team has replaced the other club twice as runner-up to the league-leading Los Angeles Angels.

Thursday night the Solons won their first game of the week's series from Los Angeles 6 to 4, to take over second position from the Padres, who dropped a game to Oakland 2 to 1, for their first loss to the Oaks this week.

For the second time in three days, the Padres and Solons are three percentage points apart, and each club is two games back of the Angels.

Can Reinforce Pacific

Battle of Midway Lifts Big Threat

By CLARK LEE

PEARL HARBOR (AP)—Reinforcements may be sent to western Pacific bases and all Pacific key points, it is predicted as a result of the Battle of Midway.

The Japanese defeat is felt to have removed, at least for the predictable future, any threat that the North American mainland might be invaded.

Therefore, it is believed such forces which may have been held on the west coast of the United States as a defence against possible invasion now have been freed and can be sent to areas where they are more urgently needed.

The Battle of Midway showed the effectiveness of aircraft in coastal defence to such an extent that any area with sufficient aerial protection may feel reasonably safe from invasion.

Such defence forces should include dive bombers, torpedo planes, fighters and heavy bombers.

In the Midway Battle, dive bombers and torpedo planes first were sent against the aircraft carriers, which are the most important target.

The dive bomber and torpedo planes went in so close they couldn't miss the enemy carriers. The Japanese found there is no way for a surface vessel to evade determined dive-bombers and torpedo attacks.

Then, with the enemy carriers either sunk or out of commission and the enemy ships deprived of fighter protection heavy bombers attacked and slammed the remaining enemy ships fleeing from the Midway area.

For this follow-up bombing, long-range, land-based planes are desirable, in addition to patrol bombers which have proven invaluable for locating the enemy planes.

Of course, if the Midway battle had gone the other way and the Japanese had sunk United States carriers and knocked out Midway, the Hawaiian Islands probably would be fighting an invasion today.

When the United Nations go on the offensive in the Pacific and start moving overseas against the Japanese, they will face a problem similar to that which confronted the Japanese at Midway—to knock out the enemy air force.

SEEK SOVIET ACTION

CHUNGKING (AP)—The Chinese press called bluntly on Soviet Russia today to strike at Japan in the wake of the Japanese attacks on Midway and the Aleutians and the Russian-American-British understandings on the creation of a second front in Europe in 1942.

The newspaper Ta Kung Pao asserted:

"America has done her part in helping Russia. Now that American outposts have been subjected to Japanese attacks, isn't it time for Russia to help America in the Pacific? Russia should also realize that the Japanese attack on the Aleutians was a direct threat to Kamchatka and Siberia."

The China Times said it hoped "Russia would make the timely decision to help the Allies in the Pacific by going to war against Japan."

The China Times expressed "concern" over news American warships were operating with the British Home Fleet.

"This divided strength of the United States fleet," it said, "prompted the Japanese attack on Midway and the Aleutians."

Ships Caught At Tulagi

U.S. Fliers Strafe Japs, Yell 'Remember Pearl Harbor'

By WALTER B. CLAUSEN

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP)—Nine and possibly 11 Japanese warships and transports were sunk by United States naval aircraft at Tulagi harbor, Solomon Islands, May 4, as a prelude to the battle of the Coral Sea.

Participants in the battle said here today they are certain that two heavy cruisers, three light cruisers, two destroyers and two large transports were sunk. A seaplane tender and a third transport also possibly were sunk as well as numerous small boats.

Aircraft carrier squadrons delivered the assault and all returned safely.

Lt. Cmdr. Joseph Taylor and William "Burch" described the attack on the enemy base 1,000 miles northeast of Australia on little Florida Island in the centre of the Solomon group.

ORDER IS SURPRISE

Burch said:

"Aboard the carrier we had not heard anything about the little harbor of Tulagi until late one night when word was passed over the loudspeaker: 'Prepare all squadrons for attack on ships in the harbor at Tulagi at dawn.' It was a complete surprise. Our force had been hunting the enemy in the Coral Sea.

"We got over Tulagi in early morning. . . . We could see through rifts of clouds the harbor filled with troops and transports."

Taylor told of the launching of the actual attack.

"As soon as I saw what ships were in the harbor, I instructed the pilots which ones to hit. In a melee there is no time for detailed assignments. We just went to work with torpedoes and bombs."

"The only thing I clearly remember as the dive bombers pushed over into screaming dives was that each pilot was yelling something into his radio, some 'cussing, but most yelling 'Remember Pearl Harbor.'"

JAPS TO LATE

"We did not catch the Japanese exactly flat-footed, but they got up no anti-aircraft fire until the attack was started. By that time it was too late."

"When we completed the attack," Burch said, "the harbor was filled with sunken and burning ships, a few of which managed to crawl to the beach to keep from sinking."

"Nine were definitely sunk, possibly 11. This included two heavy cruisers, three light cru-

Paralysis Treatment In Use for 20 Years

CLEVELAND—An active treatment of infantile paralysis in its early stages, somewhat like the new famous Slater Kenny treatment recently introduced into the United States by Miss Elizabeth Kenny of Australia, has been used at City Hospital here for over 20 years. Dr. J. A. Toomey told members of the American Academy of Pediatrics meeting here.

Many children getting this treatment are discharged "cured" at the end of the quarantine period of three weeks, Dr. Toomey reported.

In this treatment at City Hospital, he explained, the paralyzed muscles are not kept motionless by splints or other devices, as was customary in treatment of infantile paralysis in this country during that period.

"The muscles are treated actively to the point of movement," he continued. "The patients seem much more comfortable than those immobilized completely. They respond more quickly; the time in the hospital is decreased, many children being discharged cured at the end of the quarantine period of three weeks."

"Certainly, such treatment does no harm. There was no lengthening of the muscles, no production of scoliosis (spinal curvature) and no more fixation than would follow the usual methods of therapy."

The average aviation cadet who flies bombers and transports, weighs 160 pounds and is 5 feet 11 inches.

Fire Service Plea Studied

The request of Yarrows Ltd. for use of Victoria fire fighting equipment to protect the company's yard in case of an emergency will be discussed by the city fire warden, those of Esquimalt and representatives of the shipbuilding firm, the city was committee decided today.

Yarrows had suggested a pumper not continually manned in the city be placed near Esquimalt with a crew ready to go into action immediately an alarm sounded.

The city war committee reviewed its position on the question today, noting it had no authority to provide city equipment for use in Esquimalt under existing arrangements. Mention was also made of the fact no payment had been received to date on the bill submitted by the city for its attendance at the last fire in Yarrows.

On the war board's orders a list of expenditures made by the city and equipment received here for A.R.P. use was prepared for submission to the City Council.

A request was forwarded to Hon. Ian Mackenzie, B.C. member in the federal cabinet, asking for a chlorinator. Such equipment, the board was informed, was not available from the provincial civilian protection committee.

SET UP POSTS

Arrangements were made to prepare the Eagles' Hall, View St., as a decontamination centre. Authority was given for construction of a gas chamber for testing purposes behind the fire hall. Outside municipalities will be given permission to use the structure. A basement at the corner of Oscar and Moss will be prepared as a first aid post and a similar one will be provided at Victoria West.

A query will be addressed to the federal government seeking information on the responsibility for damage to private buildings used as public air raid shelters. The gift of an operating table by the 16th Canadian Scottish Women's Auxiliary was acknowledged with thanks and Dr. Richard Felton, city health officer, was empowered to purchase medical supplies up to a value of $219.

Ambulances here were placed under the direct jurisdiction of Inspector A. H. Bishop, A.R.P. chief, and other minor details, requiring immediate attention were handled.

Music Teachers Named, Saanich

Added interest in music in Saanich schools has resulted in the appointment of Miss Joan Bruce to Mt. View High School to teach this subject, by Municipal School Inspector J. Gough said today. H. W. Bigsby will supervise the teaching of music in the elementary grades.

"Apart from completing the courses in music set out by the Department of Education," said Mr. Gough, "children now enjoy many opportunities to participate in a variety of musical expression."

"We are more concerned about developing a real interest in good music on the part of every child rather than preparing a few talented pupils for a finished public performance."

TEACHERS TO TRAIN

R. Huddleston and F. Rendle of the Mt. View High School staff will journey to Calgary shortly to attend the air cadet instruction course. On their return they will assist in the instruction of members of the Air Cadet League of Canada. The air cadet course for the pupils of Canadian schools, according to regulations of the Department of Education, is an optional one, with five credits being earned by those who successfully complete the training.

TWO JOINING FORCES

Miss D. Bruce of Mt. Newton High School, and J. Chatfield of Cloverdale School, will join the forces shortly. This will leave vacancies in the staffs of the Saanich elementary schools in August, but applications on file will fill these, the inspector stated.

PUPILS GET DISCS

Registration discs for each child in Grades 1 to 8 will be issued soon.

"Parents in Saanich may be assured," said Mr. Gough, "that every precaution to provide safety for the pupils in the event of an air raid is being made."

W. Purnell, A.R.P. inspector of schools, reports that A.R.P. drills conducted in the schools are highly satisfactory.

Don't be the missing man.

REFUSES TO DEAL WITH ROBERTSON

Henry E. Savage, manager of the Standard Steam Laundry, in city court today, stated that he was willing, and on different occasions had so told his employees, to bargain with them at any time, but that he was not willing to deal with James Robertson of the Island Labor Council. He claimed that Mr. Robertson was not a duly appointed representative of the Standard Steam Laundry employees.

The hearing this morning was a resumption of the two-week adjourned case, wherein the laundry had been charged with refusing to negotiate with its employees, contrary to the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act. Mr. Savage said that a ballot, arranged by him and taken among his employees April 11 and 13, showed 33 of the laundry staff voted against having Mr. Robertson as their representative, while 31 were in favor.

Prosecuting for the Crown, C. L. Harrison showed a previous exhibit to Mr. Savage, a letter written to him by Mr. Robertson April 17, informing him that a ballot taken among the majority of the laundry employees at a recent meeting had been in favor, by a vote of 40 to 2, of retaining Mr. Robertson as their representative.

Mr. Savage said he took no action upon receipt of the letter because of the previous ballot taken at the laundry.

Questioned by Mr. Harrison, Mr. Savage said he had refused to meet Mr. Robertson at any time, although he had received many letters asking for a meeting. He said he did not answer any of the letters and did not inform Mr. Robertson of the result of the ballot taken at the laundry.

Budget June 18?
OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Halsey may bring down the budget June 18 or 25. It was learned in well-informed circles. It has been a general custom for finance ministers to make their budget speeches on Thursdays.

It is understood the minister will present the budget as soon as it is ready, regardless of whether the debate on conscription now in progress in the Commons has been concluded.

MAKES OWN NICHE
Back in Montreal, she staged a success story in reverse and, instead of waiting for a job or embarking on the weary round of employment-seeking, she created her own niche in the world of Canadian business. Selling the idea to the directorate of Dominion Stores Ltd., that they should have a woman doing research surveys in the interests of woman shoppers, Miss Melchers was soon compiling voluminous statistics on buying customs of housewives in various Canadian cities. Her latest survey, before embarking on her work for the Air Cadet League of Canada, dealt with whether or not the impending gasoline shortage would cut down grocery purchases. She discovered that 60 per cent of shoppers walk to and from food sources, this finding bringing considerable cheer to the conductors of food establishments.

Miss Melchers has temporarily discontinued that work and is

PILOT SAVES CREW WITH CRASH LANDING—Despite a badly damaged propeller, a badly-shot rear turret, a wounded navigator and the fact that only the altimeter and rate-of-climb indicator on the instrument board were working, this Wellington bomber returned safely to its British base. The plane's skipper, right, made a crash landing without any of the crew being injured. The damage occurred during a raid on Kiel.

Jeanne Melchers Coming

Dynamic Career Woman Aids Air Cadet League

One of the most dynamic young career-women in Canadian business is Miss Jeanne Melchers, research expert and magazine editor, who has been appointed personal representative of Air Marshal Bishop, V.C., in connection with the forthcoming trans-Canada tour of Miss Anna Neagle, lovely star of stage and screen, who, with other outstanding personalities of Hollywood and Broadway, will be seen on stage in a trans-continental tour which will cover some 10,000 miles in the westward and eastward jaunts. Miss Melchers is expected to visit Victoria June 16.

The tour is being sponsored by the Air Marshal Bishop Fund for the Air Cadet League of Canada and all proceeds will be turned over to that organization. Stars of stage, screen and radio are donating their services. Miss Melchers's services are being donated by J. W. Horsey, president of Dominion Stores Ltd., and it will be Miss Melchers's task to travel in advance to every key city across Canada for the purpose of co-ordinating local committees throughout the Dominion and to establish contacts for the promotion of donations and the sale of tickets for the benefit shows to be presented by Miss Anna Neagle and her associates.

TRAVELS BY PLANE
With the tour opening in Toronto on June 15, Miss Melchers will conduct her advance ground-work by plane, spending as much time as is available in each city in explaining the principles of the Air Cadet League. Her itinerary is: Winnipeg, June 3-4; Regina, June 5-6; Edmonton, June 8-9; Calgary, June 10-11; Vancouver, June 12-13; Victoria, June 16-17.

Born of Dutch parentage in Montreal, Miss Melchers attended the Sacred Heart Convent in that city and the Sacred Heart Convent in The Hague. After earning her B.A. degree, she was taking post graduate work in history and literature at the Sorbonne in Paris when the rumblings of the impending Hitler invasion of France were current. With her studies completed at the Sorbonne, she returned to Montreal. Three months later, Paris had fallen to the Nazi invaders.

Back in Montreal, she staged a success story in reverse and, instead of waiting for a job or embarking on the weary round of employment-seeking, she created her own niche in the world of Canadian business. Selling the idea to the directorate of Dominion Stores Ltd., that they should have a woman doing research surveys in the interests of woman shoppers, Miss Melchers was soon compiling voluminous statistics on buying customs of housewives in various Canadian cities. Her latest survey, before embarking on her work for the Air Cadet League of Canada, dealt with whether or not the impending gasoline shortage would cut down grocery purchases. She discovered that 60 per cent of shoppers walk to and from food sources, this finding bringing considerable cheer to the conductors of food establishments.

Miss Melchers has temporarily discontinued that work and is now devoting her organizational talents to the forthcoming tour of Miss Anna Neagle and the Air Marshal Bishop Fund for the Air Cadet League of Canada. During the recent United Nations conference at Ottawa to talk over the Commonwealth Training Plan, Miss Melchers met Captain Balfour, British Under-Secretary of State for Air, at a luncheon given by Air Marshal Bishop. At that time, Captain Balfour told her, "You could not be doing a finer job; the Air Cadet League is the natural reservoir of the Royal Canadian Air Force." It is to explain this that Miss Melchers is traveling across Canada in the interests of Miss Anna Neagle's tour.

PLENTY OF ACTION IN DOMINION FILM

"The Big Shot," Warner Bros.' new film which opens at the Dominion Theatre today, has a story and star combination that makes for surefire screen entertainment. It has an action-packed story which stars Humphrey Bogart as a one-time, big shot gangster who is caught between two fires. He can not go straight because no honest person wants to bother with a guy who has been up the river three times. And he can't get into any more trouble because the next time it is life.

Hounded by his past, taunted by fellow gangsters as a has-been, Bogart is driven to distraction. Finally he consents to act as the "brains" for an armored car stickup. From there complications, with a love angle, develop.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES

Heralded as one of the most memorable pictures of screen history and based on the best of Rex Beach's best-seller books, "The Spoilers," is now showing at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres. The thrilling saga of the Nome gold rush co-stars Marlene Dietrich, Randolph Scott and John Wayne with a supporting cast that includes Richard Barthelmess, Margaret Lindsay, Harry Carey and William Farnum, star of the original "Spoilers."

YORK THEATRE

A distinguished cast of stage and screen personalities surround Anna Neagle in her latest film-musical "Sunny," modernized version of the famous Broadway musical comedy.

Ray Bolger, brilliant dancer, and John Carroll, popular film singer, top the supporting cast in this gay offering which is laid in New Orleans at the height of the Mardi Gras season. Other important roles are played by Edward Everett Horton, Paul and Grace Hartman, the noted dance satirists of ballroom fame; Frieda Inescort and Helen Westley.

CADET THEATRE

Remember? . . . the era of the speakeasies . . . Texas Guinan . . . "Legs" Diamond . . . the Hotey Totsy Club . . . marathon dances . . . Manhattan on the loose, tons of ticker tape fluttering from skyscraper windows upon returning heroes, trans-Atlantic flights, the good five-cent cigar? It's all brought back in M.G.M.'s new drama, "Unholy Partners," now at the Cadet Theatre, starring Edward G. Robinson, and with lovely Marsha Hunt, above, Edward Arnold and Laraine Day among the featured players. Miss Hunt makes her debut as a singer in the role of a Broadway chanteuse of the colorful era of the twenties.

RIO THEATRE

It is Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy who are the nitwits in khaki in 20th Century-Fox's new comedy, "Great Guns," which is at the Rio Theatre.

These two comedians have the army balm in this blitz on blues which features Shelia Ryan, Dick Nelson and Edmund MacDonald. Cast as two slaphappy buck privates, Laurel and Hardy mix up the army, the generals and even the sergeants. It is a comedy riot.

Don't be the missing man.

Dorothy Dix:

Henpecked Husbands Live Longer Than Bossy Men

Isn't science wonderful? According to late reports, it has discovered that henpecked husbands live longer than those who rule in their households, or who fight with their wives over which one is to wear the pants.

One's first reaction to the news of this important vital statistic is that perhaps it is only that life seems longer to those poor, downtrodden, domestic serfs, but no! Science says that it is a fact that when once men make up their minds to let their wives have their own way and run things and to quit arguing with them about it, they pass into a state of calm that prolongs their days.

No doubt this is true, for once we have accepted defeat and adjusted ourselves to it we have very little to worry over, and that not only saves a lot of wear and tear on our nervous systems, but keeps us from getting so sick kicking against the thorns.

And there is where the bossy wife comes into the picture as an angel in disguise, and if the disguise is often so impenetrable that her husband sometimes fails to recognize what a blessing she is, it only goes to show how little men perceive what is good for them.

Little do they realize that after the marriage ceremony their Marjies will take over the whole job of running their lives for them, and that never again will they be called upon to make a decision, or formulate any plan of action, or take the initiative in any matter. They won't even have to think. Their wives will run the whole show and all they will have to do will have to do will be to say "yes, ma'am" when she—who-must-be-obeyed speaks.

There are plenty of husbands who might just as well have parked their brains on their wedding day because they are never permitted to use them again. It is their wives who tell them to do this and that, and take an umbrella. It is their wives who decide when they need a new suit, and pick it out. It is their wives who feed them what they think they should eat.

It is their wives who pick out their friends and amusements. It is their wives who supervise their politics and religion. It is the wives who walk in front and say "sit there" when they enter a house. It is the wives who always speak of their possessions, from the children to the cat, as "mine" and who take the entire credit for any success their husbands make in life.

It can easily be seen how enormously this attitude on a wife's part conserves her husband's energies. He doesn't have to exhaust himself trying to decide whether he will go to the movies or stay at home. He goes, or stays, according to whether his wife feels like stepping out, or wants to read a new novel. He doesn't have to order something that he likes to eat, or something this is good for his stomach. His wife orders spinach for him. He doesn't have to get nervous prostration worrying over family problems. Maria settles everything. So it is no wonder that he can just go on living and living and living.

Of course, it should be noted here that it is only the man who submits philosophically to being henpecked who is such a good insurance risk. The man who rebels against it and who fights for his personal liberty fills an early grave, or figures in the divorce court.

One way or the other he is one of the casualties of marriage, for the wife always wins out. No man has the staying power of a woman who is determined to have her own way and rule the roost. Hence, wise is the man who, finding that he is married to a domineering woman, adopts the policy of nonresistance.

Disasters Fail to Break Poles' National Idea

Thousands of Poles are taking their stand beside the Russians and British in the present war. After being prisoners in Russia, they have made ready to fight against the Germans.

Portrait and statue of Kosciuszko

Going back into history, we find that the Poles have had much trouble at the hands of the Prussians, who make up more than half of the German people, and have been injured by other nations as well.

Back in 1667, Russia took a thick slice of land from eastern Poland. At the same time, Sweden took a chunk from the northern part.

In 1772 came another "partition." Russia, Prussia and Austria seized pieces of Poland, and left only about three-fourths of the country.

Twenty-one years later, Russia and Prussia did some more gobbling. Then two years passed and the country was carved up so well that there was nothing left.

So Poland was gone, or at least that is what the conquerors thought. The spirit of the Poles, however, was not lost.

This story gives an idea of how the Poles cling to the idea of their nation.

Paderewski, the great pianist, lived in Russian Poland and one day played before the Russian Czar. At the close of the concert, the Czar called the pianist before him and said, "I am glad that such a wonderful musician is a Russian."

"Sire," replied Paderewski, "I am not a Russian. I am a Pole!"

On Way to Alaska

Battle With Highway
New Northland Epic

By SIGRID ARNE

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C. (AP)—The first United States troops that arrived in Canada to build the Alaska Highway pulled into Dawson Creek March 9 at 1.30 a.m. in a blistering, cold darkness. It was 25 below zero.

They tumbled shivering out of their trains.

"Fall out, men," shouted a major over a howling wind. "That's where you sleep—if you sleep." He pointed to a frozen field.

In an hour the field was scattered with bundles, barracks bags, crates of tinned food, sleeping bags, tent chimneys.

The clink of pickaxes rang through the night as the men, bundled in fur-lined parkas, chipped holes in the frozen ground for their tent poles. In two hours the tents were up. The men grabbed a few hours' sleep.

That was the start of one of the most amazing battles man has ever waged with the frozen north, and won.

The United States and Canada had just signed an agreement to permit the United States to punch through a highway to Alaska at the double.

COST WILL SOAR

The United States has agreed to pay the cost of the highway. It may cost $25,000,000 or $50,000,000. It's impossible to say now because the country is so wild and so unknown. The United States will keep up the road for six months after the war. Then the road will revert to Canada and she will maintain it.

But now—this hour—that road, 1,459 miles long, is needed to keep up the flow of planes, food, guns to Alaska, fighting and hoping for the final mile of road snaking into Fairbanks.

At the south end a railroad comes as far north as Dawson Creek, 550 miles northwest of Edmonton. Then there's a so-so dirt

WAR ISSUES

There is no longer any need to speculate over the issues at stake in this war. We are indebted to Mr. Crabtree, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, who, in a recent address, made it clear that the war is being fought "by the capitalist system, which is the foundation of our social and economic institutions." Can it be that the Russians have now seen the error of their ways and are fighting to restore the system which their fathers fought to destroy; a system which has brought privilege and luxury for a few, and fear, want, poverty and degradation for the many? Mr. Crabtree, who speaks with the voice of authority as chairman of the Allied Wartime Supply Board, does not ignore the demand of the people for a new order, but he makes it clear that "we will not be guided by prophets who have nothing to lose." In other words, the majority of the people, lacking either wealth or property, will have no say in the planning of the better world in which we are to live after the war. In Mr. Crabtree's view, the new order must be planned and controlled solely by the leaders of industry and big business or by people who have "something to lose."

DETIMENT TO WAR WINNING

Hon. M. A. McPherson, K.C. is quoted in the Regina Leader Post, as saying:

"It can hardly be argued that intoxicants as a beverage are essential. On the contrary, I feel that rather than promote efficiency in the individual, liquor is a detriment. There never was a greater need for clear-headed, sustained, uninterrupted application to duty. If anything mediates with that, it should go out of our national life. As Curtin of Australia said the other day: 'Brawn and brain come before bets and beer.'"

"I am not as a citizen to be influenced by the profits made by the various treasuries from the liquor business. In fact, the increase in these profits convinces me that much wealth is being diverted to a purpose which has nothing to do with the winning of the war."

"In common with other Canadians I was impressed with the courage shown by our soldiers at Hong Kong and Singapore, but I was not impressed with the stories of drinking in the Raffles Club, with the enemy at the very gate."

"The old straw man of the bootlegger will be thrown up. Are we soft and decadent as Hitler suggests? Are we prepared to deal with a law-breaker of this class in such a time as this? A fine for a convicted bootlegger with prohibition would be entirely out of line. If he were convicted he should do at least a year in jail. We would either mean business or we would not."

SNOBBERY UP TO DATE

Few read Thackeray nowadays, which is a pity. He held a mirror up to human nature, and the shafts of his satirical wit, pointed and barbed, still strike home; they do not "date." "The Book of Snobs," for instance, read to-day, seems as pertinent as ever. Even more so, perhaps, as snobbery is no longer the prerogative of the "upper" classes; it is almost universal, and appears to be spreading. All sorts and conditions of men indulge in it; all ranks and ratings, in fact. There was a discussion about it in "The Times" (London) recently, in which a well-known editor drew attention to the misuse of the courtesy titles "mister" and "esquire." He suggested that they might well be dropped, as they had become largely meaningless and were outmoded, being really only another indication of snobbery. There was a good deal in what he said, and additional point is given to his critique by the fact that snobbery now seems to be invading the "democratic" services, where one would least expect to find it, and where it is certainly out of place. As an ex-naval rating this pains me, and I lift my pen in lamentation, though more in sorrow than in anger.

One sees a picture in the papers of Jack and Jill in matrimonial guise, the former decked out to kill in full canonicals, 38-inch bell-bottoms and silken streamers, all complete; the latter languishing on his arm, wearing—well, whatever is appropriate—I am as a child where feminine apparel is concerned. Underneath appears the legend: "Mr. John Jones (Jack), Quartermaster, H.M.C.S. Hookamagooch, and Miss June Smith (Jill), were married at . . . and so on and so forth. Not, it will be noted, "Able Seaman Jones," or "Stoker Jones," the proper service nomenclature, distinguishing and creditable titles though they are under present circumstances; but the undistinguished, nonservice and snobbish "mister." Well, well!

I await with apprehension the inevitable shape of things to come—the writing is on the wall. The climax is as certain as Hitler's downfall. Again we shall see that charming and affecting picture, but this time of Jack and Jill's opposite numbers, with all its emotional appeal. (All the world loves a lover—how much more so two.) But the legend will have been improved upon and will doubtless read: "William Williams, Esquire (Buster), Captain of the Heads, H.M.C.S. Uchuckit, and Miss Ephigenie Robinson (Mae), were united in the bonds of matrimony at . . . etc."

Hon. James, and don't spare the horses.

ARMED FORCES' PAY

The underpay of our fighting forces has not had a tranquil effect on the majority of Canadians in the service or otherwise. Let our legislators remember these noble citizens who are willing to sacrifice even life to defend our glorious heritage of liberty and justice for all.

Our representatives may well bow their heads in shame for such niggardly treatment. What chance would Canada have without her magnificent fighting forces whose unequalled valor is common knowledge the world over? But for these brave defenders the enemy could easily get a foothold, even here. Alas, then, for those miserable money-changers who amass largely by unethical means via the well-travelled route (aboard the political special).

Why should such things be countenanced in a democracy? A just punishment for this (special privileged class) should be forthcoming. My object in writing is to humbly suggest immediate action for a substantial pay increase for all our fighting forces. The increase could be converted into Victory Bonds till the boys and girls come home. True, some may not return. The next of kin would then be entitled.

For once let Ottawa do something magnanimous. Nothing could more readily contribute to increased morale. The effect will be magic, electrifying and thrilling every Canadian defender of democracy. Hope gives courage and determination. Thus armed, we can and will finish this job properly. High morale pays high dividends. Ottawa, harken to the drums!

ALL-OUT EFFORT

The Canadian people have spoken. The Mackenzie King government has been released from its past commitments restricting the methods of raising men for military service. The decisive "yes" vote proved beyond any shadow of doubt that the people not only voted for the conscription of manpower, but also, "we demand an all-out total war."

There never has been the slightest evidence that the voluntary system of enlistment has retarded our war effort, but there has been plenty of evidence that our men have not had the tools to even defend themselves with. The people are not afraid of strong, effective action—they want action. They want our men to go into battle, fully equipped with tanks, guns, planes and other war machines. For is not Hongkong, Malaya, Burma and fight down to Crete still fresh in our memories? This is a war of machines and conscription of manpower alone will not solve our problems.

What do we think when we read in our papers, "Our forces had to withdraw owing to lack of air support?" Did the people of Canada vote "yes" so as to send their sons into such situations as this? No, they are prepared to go twice as far as their government has gone up to the present time. They want the full mobilization of all our material and financial resources, the conscription of arms, the tools and the plants, yes, and their homes if need be, as well as their lives. They want the government to assume the full responsibility for the operation of all our basic industries engaged in supplying war essentials. Industries essential for war

Prove Sulfa Drug
Harms Rabbits

CHICAGO—Evidence that sodium sulfathiazole, recently advanced as the long hoped-for beneficial treatment of sinus trouble actually is dangerous, was reported in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

A series of rabbits were given nasal injections of 5 per cent solution of the sodium sulfathiazole by Dr. Charles E. Futch, Dr. Lloyd K. Rosenvold and Dr. Charles E. Stewart Jr. of Los Angeles. They found serious damage to the animals' mucous membranes, the tissues that line the inside of the nose. After a week's rest from the nasal injections, "there was little recovery from the destructive process," they reported. The 5 per cent solution had been recommended as a nasal spray for human sinus infection.

The three physicians found the 5 per cent solution and a 30 per cent solution both highly alkaline, and suggested this may be a factor causing the damage to the nasal mucous membrane. They expressed the hope that chemical combinations of the sulfa drugs which are nonirritant may be developed.

They warned, however, that chronic sinus trouble is too complex a disease to be cured with a single medicine.

Death of four persons receiving sulfathiazole and extensive damage to their internal organs from the drug also was reported in the current journal.

From their studies of the four fatal cases, Dr. Max Lederer and Dr. Philip Rosenblatt of Brooklyn suggested how this valuable drug may be used more safely.

They warned against indiscriminate and uncontrolled use, and suggest examination of the urine during treatment for crystals and blood. A chill followed by sustained fever is a signal to discontinue the drug at once.

"Sulfathiazole," they concluded, "should be used only when definitely indicated and should not be continued longer than is absolutely necessary."
